EUROPE SEES US ENTANGLED, BUT U. S. DENIES IT

Refuse Reservation Asked by Kellogg.

Cables to The Tribune from London last night declared that Europe now considers the United States a responsible party to the debt settlement. Mr. Kellogg from Washington reports the American attitude as flatly repudiating such a thought. Both reports follow:

PARIS, Jan. 15.—There leaked out today the story of a dramatic incident at the moment of the signing of the Paris financial accord.

At the head of the agreement was written a list of the names of the governments making it. This, of course, meant the United States government, in signing the accord, recognized officially the Dawes plan and the right of the allies to enjoy payment under reparations provisions of the treaty to Versailles.

As the time came to sign, Ambassador Kellogg, who is secretary of state, arose and asked that the agreement be made to the American delegation without the reservation that the Washington government was bound "only in so far as rights of the United States are concerned."

Churchill Makes Objection.

Winston Churchill, British chancellor of the exchequer, immediately objected that it had been understood throughout the negotiations that the United States should sign the whole agreement, which would thereby make it a contracting party to the Dawes plan.

Finance Minister Clementel of France took the same stand, as did Premier Thoms of Belgium and Finance Minister Stefani of Italy, each of whom claimed that the United States could not expect to collect from the allied reparations, payments and make all responsibility.

Before this united stand and evidently fearing embarrassing complications, Ambassador Kellogg withdrew his reservation and, together with Ambassador Herrick and Col. James A. Logan, signed the whole agreement.

Filed in Archives.

This incident is now in the records of the British foreign office and Quai d'Orsay and it may be expected that if the issue of German default and corresponding responsibilities arise, it will be called to the attention of either Secretary of State Kellogg or his successor.

The French believe Ambassador Kellogg went away today from Paris with full realization that the signature of himself and colleagues had definitely committed the Washington government to partnership with the allies in collecting reparations from Germany for the full duration of the Dawes plan.

WASHINGTON DENIES IT

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—The United States neither has entangled itself in European politics nor become responsible to the slightest degree for the collection of reparations from Germany as a result of the Paris agreement under which America will participate in the Dawes plan.

This emphatic statement was authorized by the administration today to counteract the mutual congratulations uttered by British and French statesmen on the outcome of the Paris conference, which they represented as committing the United States at last to joint responsibility with the allies for the policies adopted in dealing with Germany. This foreign comment had caused some of the irreconcilables in the senate to pick up their ears and wail, "I told you so—entangled at last!"

Position Is Unchanged.

"We are exactly in the same position as we were before," said the state department spokesman, "except that now we have the assurance that our war claims will be paid if the reparations are collected. The finance ministers met our views in a satisfactory manner, and we are well satisfied. Repairs that we have assumed obligations by agreeing to accept money collected under the Dawes award in settlement of our war claims are absolutely unfounded."

In plain language, we have no receipts.

W. O. Trainer in Cell for Wild Driving

William O. Trainer, wealthy real estate dealer with offices at 308 North Michigan avenue, was locked up at the Hyde Park police station last night on charges of driving an automobile while intoxicated and assault with an automobile.

His arrest followed wild driving in an attempt to run his new coupe into the Lake Park garage, 5414 Lake Park avenue. In the attempt Trainer ran over Peter J. Boylan, 7120 Champlain avenue, engineer at the Hyde Park police station; wrecked an automobile owned by Harry Khatz, 5626 Lake Park avenue, and smashed his own car in a collision with a brick wall.

Were Returning Home.

Mr. Trainer and his wife were returning to their home at 5461 Cornell avenue following calls upon friends. Both denied that they had partaken of intoxicants at their friends' homes.

But when police took Mr. Trainer to the station he was subjected to certain tests. One of them was to walk a straight line. Police said Mr. Trainer fell down in the attempt.

After the real estate man had been locked up and booked on orders of Lieut. J. C. Vaughan, his wife reached two friends, who hurried to the station. They telephoned Judge Trude.

Would Sign Check.

"Judge Trude says he will sign a check for the release of Mr. Trainer if you will accept it," one of the men told Lieut. Vaughan.

"I don't know which of the judges you talked to, but you can tell him for me that he ought to know better," the police officer answered.

Mrs. Trainer then offered to give the police bank check valued at $40,000 as bail for her husband. This offer was refused. She then began removing jewelry which she said was of great value. But the police would not accept jewelry, either.

"Nothing but real estate bail is acceptable," Lieut. Vaughan told her. She left to find a friend who would supply the necessary surety.

Two Men Die.

John Murray, 32 years old, 3461 West Jackson boulevard, a mail collector, who was injured by an automobile Saturday night when he stepped from behind his mail truck into the path of an automobile, died last night at the Robert Burns hospital.

T. M. Mitchell, 77 years old, 6327 Parnell avenue, died at the Hennrich Memorial hospital as a result of injuries received Wednesday when struck by a taxicab at Michigan avenue and Erie street.

Dickinson, Cement King, Gets Divorce

Theodore G. Dickinson, millionaire president of the Marquette Cement Manufacturing company, obtained a divorce yesterday from his wife of forty-five years, Mrs. Mary Belville Dickinson. Mrs. Dickinson received an alimony $500,000 in cash and securities.

Mr. Dickinson is well past 60. His suit came as a surprise to most of his business associates and to Mrs. Dickinson's friends.

Speedy Hearing Granted.

The divorce bill was filed yesterday by Attorney Orville Taylor of Taylor, Miller, Dickinson & Smith. A short time later the matter was brought before Judge Joseph Sabath.

The judge hesitated to grant an immediate hearing, but when Mr. Taylor informed the court that business made it imperative for Mr. Dickinson to go at once to New York, Judge Sabath assented.

So Mr. Dickinson took the witness chair to tell of his marriage on June 1, 1880. They lived together until January, 1914, when Mr. Dickinson decided to live apart.

It was announced as recently as two years ago that the Dickinsons had purchased a $50,000 winter home in Miami.

Wife Prefers Michigan Home.

Mr. Dickinson testified that the separation followed his wife's decision to live most of the year in St. Joseph, Mich. She and her daughter, Miss Rose L. Dickinson, have also a town apartment at 300 East Pearson street.

For many years, Mr. Dickinson said, he has been living at the Blackstone hotel. A son, Robert B. Dickinson, an executive of his father's company, is married and lives in Lake Forest.

In behalf of Mrs. Dickinson, her attorney E. S. Hartman, said the financial settlement outlined by Attorney Taylor was satisfactory. She did not appear in court. Her formal denial of the desertion charge was filed together with a consent that the case should be heard by default.

Judge Sabath authorized Mr. Taylor to prepare a decree, which he announced he would sign today.

Grover Cleveland's Son to Wed Clergyman's Daughter

New York, Jan. 15.—The engagement of Francis Grover Cleveland, youngest son of Grover Cleveland, to Miss Alice Erdman, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Erdman of Princeton, N. J., is announced. Mr. Cleveland is a senior at Harvard university.

VOTE MILLION TO FIX LEVEL AT LAKE PORTS

Chicago Water Plea Faces Fight.

Yesterday's developments in Chicago's fight for permission to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from the lake for sanitary purposes were as follows:

1. Sanitary district trustees under the leadership of Morris Eller, chairman of the finance committee, pledged the federal government $1,000,000 to finance the construction of compensating works to regulate lake levels in return for the 10,000 cubic feet per second concession.

2. Representatives of eighty great lake ports organizations met in Cleveland and prepared an official protest against the diversion.

3. Detroit, which has consistently opposed Chicago's efforts to increase the authorized flow of lake water into the drainage canal, found itself with an imperative sewage disposal problem that may cost upwards of $40,000,000 to solve.

4. Bitter congressional opposition to the diversion scheme, as well as to the Great Lakes-Gulf of Mexico deep waterway project, was predicted in Washington.

New Local Opposition.

While city and sanitary district officials bent every effort to comply with war department demands that the local water supply be metered and that construction of sewage disposal plants proceed as soon as possible, new opposition to increased diversion of lake water into the drainage canal was heard.

To assure the war department of its good faith in the interest of shipping and to provide for the building of works to offset any lake level reduction which might follow the diversion of 10,000 cubic feet per second, the drainage board voted to post $1,000,000 with the federal government.

Commissioner of Public Works A. A. Sprague announced that an ordinance providing for universal metering of the city's water supply would be submitted to the city council without delay, and that plans to finance the metering program by reducing water bill discounts from 25 per cent to 10 per cent were being discussed. Such a reduction would increase water department revenues approximately $2,000,000 annually, it was estimated.

Meanwhile, however, Clarence S. Ferris, deputy attorney general for New York, told the senate lakes to gulf waterway committee in Washington that his state will oppose further diversion of lake water "under any guise."

Other testimony presented to the senate indicated plainly that a determined effort will be exerted to have the government build a lock canal in the Mississippi river rather than the deep waterway planned at present.

The cities along the lakes have certain vested rights which the government cannot take away," Attorney General Ferris told the committee. "The committee may as well understand that now. We do not object to the construction of a canal like the barge canal, but what you're trying to do is to create a new river down there."

Wyer Makes Report.

Samuel S. Wyer, associate in mineral technology at the Smithsonian national museum, reported the results of his survey of the situation showed it "not unreasonable to insist on a reduction of flow to 8,000 cubic feet per second by 1935 and about 5,000 cubic feet per second by 1940, as far as the protection of health of the community is concerned." His conclusions are based, of course, on the proposed construction of sewage disposal plants.

Resolutions protesting against diversion of lake water at Chicago because of the resultant damage to shipping will be adopted today by about 300 delegates of various lake port organizations meeting in Cleveland under auspices of the Great Lakes Harbor association. The protest will be forwarded to the secretaries of war and state and all members of congress, according to the association.

Episcopal Court Finds Him Guilty

BULLETIN.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 15.—(United News.)—"I forgive my colleagues. I love them, every one," Bishop Brown said after his conviction.

"I am sorry for the church that it saw fit to uphold my conviction of heresy," I love Bishop Leonard most of all. He made me a bishop."

Cleveland, O., Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—Expulsion from the ministry was announced here today as a fitting punishment for the Rt. Rev. William Montgomery Brown, retired bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Arkansas.

The finding came from the church's board of review after three days of argument on the action of the trial court which last May found Bishop Brown guilty of uttering doctrines contrary to those held by the church. The reviewing body discovered no error in the trial affirming those proceedings without exception.

Final Decree Up to Bishops.

Bishop William A. Leonard of Cleveland, presiding officer of the review court, explained that the power to put the sentence into effect rests with the house of bishops. That body, which meets at the general convention of the church in New Orleans next September, will hear the reports of the trial and review courts and approve or disapprove them. Approval can be given only by a two-thirds vote of all the 130 bishops entitled to cast ballots.

If this majority is obtained in New Orleans, the sentence announced today will be formally pronounced by the presiding bishop of the church, the post now held by Bishop E. Tabbot of Bethlehem, Pa. Failure to obtain a two-thirds vote of the members of the house of bishops would, it was said, amount to a disapproval that would in effect be a reversal of both the courts.

Declines to Make Retraction.

Concluding scenes in the trial, were marked by the personal participation of Bishop Brown. At the morning session he addressed the court in affirmation of his beliefs and, in the brief afternoon session at which the findings were given, told his fellow bishops flatly that he had no desire to retract one word of his teachings.

Bishop Leonard then announced the finding that the trial was conducted without error and that the verdict of guilty was affirmed. He polled the court and in turn bishops Irving P. Johnson, Colorado; William W. Webb, Milwaukee; J. de Wolfe Perry, Rhode Island; R. H. Nelson, Albany; C. B. Brewster, Connecticut; William Cabell Brown, Virginia, and Davis Seassum, Louisiana, confirmed the finding as their own.

Agreeing Bishop Brown was asked if he wished to make any statement before sentence was announced. After a brief consultation with his client, Mr. Sharts answered for him in the negative.

Bishop Leonard then read the verdict. "It is the judgment of this court that you, William Montgomery Brown, should be deposed from the sacred ministry."

Bishop Leonard also announced that the appeal court would later hand down a written opinion.

DAY IN CRIME WAR

The day thus concluded by a bomb attack on Mr. Williams' house saw several activities contributing to the controversy over law and order. They were:

1. Attack on Miss Lillian Mrvicka, 16, a white girl, by a colored man, on a lone prairie near her home, 4845 South LaSalle avenue.

2. Acquittal of Joseph Chimento, confessed slayer of his wife, by a jury in Judge William V. Brothers' court.

3. Capt. Joseph Mullin of the Graham station stripped of his star, suspended, and forcibly ejected from Chief Morgan Collins' office when he came intoxicated to captain's meeting.

4. Chief Collins ordered reports from every district in the city to the detective bureau every three minutes.

Miss Mrvicka, employed in a loop store, alighted from an Archer avenue car. She had walked half way across an eight block stretch of prairie when a colored man suddenly confronted her.

"Where you going?" he asked, as he stepped forward and threw an arm around her neck.

She fought and he hit her on the head with a chair. She gasped: "Let me alone, please let me alone; I'm going home."

The man seized and dragged her a half a block further into the prairie. She screamed and he struck her twice more with the chair. She fell down and he attempted to assault her. A physician later said he had not succeeded. The colored man finally fled with her purse containing 3 cents. She staggered, her head bleeding, to her home.

James Mrvicka, her father, who was walking along Laramie avenue, a few blocks away, at the time, said: "I heard her screaming, but the young folks so often yell and play when they run across the prairie I thought nothing about it."

Miss Mrvicka said later the colored man was wearing a dark coat and was about 35 years of age.

He was wearing a dark coat and

He was wearing a dark coat and man seemed about 30 and had a growth of beard as though he had not shaved for several days.

WIFE SLAYER FREED

The jury in the case of Chimento deliberated three hours, then returned a verdict of not guilty. Chimento's defense was that his wife rushed at him with a revolver last Easter morning at their home, 1746 West Polk street. Then, he said, she shot her three times in self-defense. The jury accepted that version and after many ballots agreed on "not guilty."

Chimento's four children sat beside their father during the trial and wept as they heard the prosecutor demand the gallows for him.

CAPT. MULLIN'S TROUBLE

Capt. Mullin, wearing civilian clothes, came to the captain's meeting at the chief's office. He created a disturbance. When the chief suggested that Deputy Chief John M. Alcock take him into another room, Mullin resisted. Acting Captain John Prendergast, secretary to the chief, then ejected him while the chief shouted angrily:

"Strip him of his star! He's drunk. I'll prefer charges against him."

The chief's order that all districts must report to the detective bureau every three minutes will be carried out through the auto squads.

Those squads drive about the city. Those from the detective bureau will report to district stations as well and the station squads will report to the bureau.

Two Women Attacked.

Two women were attacked late at night by a moron, who dragged them into a doorway at Sheffield avenue and Wellington street. Their screams drove him away. One of the women is Miss Agnes Johnson, 18, of 2160 Culion avenue, the other her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. Johnson, of 1219 Belmont avenue.

Mrs. Angelica Cusick, 7332 Blackstone avenue, fainted when a holdup man tried to take her fur coat from her in front of her home. The man fled without the coat as she fell.

George Kline, Morris, Frank Taggart and Frank McClellan, alleged pickpockets, were allowed their freedom yesterday by Judge John H. Lyle in the Clark street court. They promised they would clear out of Chicago and never return. Three of those men have long criminal records.

SEIZED AS A MORON

Joseph Hernandez, 22, of 57 East Walton place, was arrested for his action towards Gold Coast women from the window of his room, after several, including Mrs. Mary Angel, 40, of East Walton place, complained. He is charged with being a moron.

An unidentified man was shot and probably wounded while in a restaurant at 1125 West Madison street.

Dr. C. A. Rose, dentist, of 425 Harrison street, Oak Park, was held to the grand jury in $5,000 on charges of taking liberties with Eleanor Vix, 12, of 319 South Elmwood avenue, Oak Park.

POLICE SEEK RAYMOND MCGLOONE.

Raymond McGloone, 30, of 1234 S. Dearborn street, was arrested in St. Paul. Police of the Minnesota city yesterday asked Chicago police to look for McGloone.

REPUBLIC FACES TEST IN GERMANY AS LUTHER RULES

Assert Nation Will Carry Out Dawes Plan.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
(Copyright, 1925: By The Chicago Tribune.)

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—At 7 o'clock tonight President Ebert officially accepted the new cabinet presented to him by Germany's new chancellor, Hans Luther, and republican Germany enters the most dangerous experiment in its history, since it has officially entrusted the reins of government to men who for the last years have been attacking the government.

Of the eight men officially appointed four are monarchists, supporters of kaiserism, two are known as inclined toward monarchism, and another comes from industrial circles, which certainly cannot be suspected of republicanism.

Have Slim Majority.

In a solemn conference this afternoon all these nationalists, in the presence of President Ebert and Chancellor Luther, declared themselves ready to "recognize the existence of the German republican constitution and to respect it." They immediately added that, despite this recognition, a monarchy still remained their ultimate goal, but the question of a kind of government was of secondary importance when the fate of the country was at stake.

Though seemingly so strong, the nationalists will not be able to sway the entire country, despite their majority. Catholics, as well as socialists, are ready to overthrow them at their first divergence from the line agreed upon in long party conclaves between the nationalists, populists and centrists. How careful the nationalists intend to be was shown in their first conference with President Ebert, in which Dr. Luther and his monarchistic friends gave a rough sketch of their program.

Will Execute Dawes Plan.

It is stated that the government's declaration will be presented to the reichstag late Friday afternoon. It

Heads Government

Dr. Hans Luther yesterday was appointed German chancellor. Dr. Luther has announced his determination to carry out the policies of the Marx government.

represents a ticklish compromise since it must please the republican centrists as well as the wild ambitions of the nationalists, especially insofar as Germany's internal politics are concerned. The matter of foreign policy is simple and this is expressed as follows by a government spokesman: "We shall fulfill the Dawes agreement, but at the same time demand that the allies respect those clauses of the Versailles treaty which are in favor of Germany."

The main battle will be economic. The industrialists want to reconquer Germany's preponderance in the world. They want to cancel rules and regulations issued by the socialists, which they feel are acting as a drag on them in their efforts to conquer the markets abroad.

Mayor Calls Civic Leaders to Discuss City's Growth

Representatives of every important commercial and civic organization in the city, including the Chicago Federation of Labor, have been invited by Mayor Dever to participate in a discussion of the city's most pressing physical needs and the available financial means of meeting them. The conference will be held in the mayor's office tomorrow morning. Out of the conference, the mayor said yesterday, he hopes to develop a comprehensive municipal construction program, anticipating the city's growth for half a century.

Attorney Albert Fink Is Granted a Divorce

Attorney Albert Fink, 237 East Delaware place, was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Harry Lewis yesterday after he told how his wife, Mrs. Laura M. Fink, left him, despite his entreaties, to make her home in Paris, France. Several subsequent pleas urging her return have been made by the lawyer, he testified, but in vain. He agreed to pay Mrs. Fink monthly alimony of $300.

KANSAS PAROLE GRAFT CHARGES INVOLVE OTHERS

Legislature Leaves Davis Inquiry to Courts.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—Carl J. Peterson, state bank commissioner, involved with former Gov. Jonathan M. Davis an alleged pardon trafficking ring, presented his resignation to Gov. Ben S. Poynter today, and demanded that his accusers meet him in court.

The bank commissioner, who has been the former governor's chief political adviser, declared he would "take up the fight and defend Gov. Davis against the malicious and vicious attacks of his political enemies."

Accused as Intermediary.

Meanwhile Volney O. Johnson, convicted Albee bank embezzler, was being sought by the state in an effort to link up Davis and Peterson in the alleged sale of executive clemency.

Johnson is charged in an affidavit by C. H. Bartholomew of Wichita with having been an intermediary for the former governor and Peterson in the sale of a parole to Bartholomew's son, Ernest Bartholomew.

The elder Bartholomew says he paid Johnson $1,250 and received the parole. Two cases, both involving Davis and Peterson, are virtually ready for court action, officials said today.

Attorney General C. B. Griffith yesterday turned over to the county attorney's office affidavits charging Peterson with soliciting a bribe in return for the freedom of Walter Grundy, convicted Hutchinson banker.

Already Under Bond.

The former governor and his son are already under $1,000 bond on the same charges in connection with the pardon of Fred W. Pollman, former Lacrosse banker.

Republicans of the lower house of the legislature today expressed opposition to any legislative investigation of the scandal, leaving the matter to the courts.

F. A. VANDERLIP SETTLES SUIT OF MARION, O., STAR

Admits Harding's Sale of Paper Proper.

Marion, O., Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.]—A speech made by Frank A. Vanderlip, New York financier, at Briar Cliff, N. Y., a year ago, which resulted in a damage suit for $1,200,000 being filed against him by Roy D. Moore and L. H. Brush, publishers of the Marion, O., Star, has become a closed incident through the announcement in the Star today that the case had been settled out of court.

In his speech, Vanderlip is alleged to have charged that Moore and Brush paid President Harding too high a price for the paper. The publishers then filed suits for damages.

Clears Name of Harding.

With the announcement was published a statement authorized by Mrs. Vanderlip. Mr. Vanderlip is reported seriously ill with typhoid fever.

The statement cleared the name of President Harding of any suspicion by declaring that there was no justification for the statement by Mr. Vanderlip that the price paid for the Star was exorbitant.

Statement by Mrs. Vanderlip.

The statement authorized by Mrs. Vanderlip follows:

"There was no justification for the statement that the price paid President Harding by the present owners was too high, or that there was anything sinister about the financial arrangement."

"President Harding was most scrupulous as to the propriety of the negotiations."

"Mr. Vanderlip would concur in this statement if he were able to speak."

The Star's announcement did not mention the terms of settlement.

BOYS SEIZED AS SUSPECTS.

After a chase of several blocks through the west side yesterday afternoon, Stanley Waskewski, 3335 Fiske street, and Stanley Wiskat, 1923 West 94th place, each 16, were captured and charged with attempting to steal rugs worth $250 from a truck.

Congressman Indiana to C

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Official announced at the White House today that President Woodrow Wilson, who is recovering from a recent illness, will return to his duties within a few weeks. The President's absence from the White House began on March 4 by the onset of a cold, which developed into a severe illness. The President's condition is now such that he is able to receive visitors and attend to his official duties, but he is still recovering from the effects of the illness.

Mr. Sanders, who is recovering from a recent illness, will return to his duties within a few weeks. The President's absence from the White House began on March 4 by the onset of a cold, which developed into a severe illness. The President's condition is now such that he is able to receive visitors and attend to his official duties, but he is still recovering from the effects of the illness.

It was further learned that Theodore Roosevelt, candidate for governor in the recent campaign, is recovering from a recent illness and is expected to return to his duties within a few weeks. COUNCIL HEARS A TRANSIT

Consideration of the transit problem was taken up by the committee yesterday. An amendment to the bill, which would provide for the construction of a new transit system, was introduced. The committee is expected to report on the bill within a few weeks.

Meanwhile, the transit problem remains a major issue for the city. The transit commission is working to develop a plan for a new transit system, but the city council has not yet approved the plan. The transit problem is expected to remain a major issue for the city in the coming months.

SLEMP RESIGNS AS SECRETARY TO THE PRESIDENT

Congressman Sanders of Indiana to Get Job.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—Official announcement was made at the White House today that C. Bascom Slemph, secretary to the President, would resign from that office within a few weeks, probably on Feb. 1, and that the vacancy would be filled on March 4 by the nomination of Everett Sanders, now a representative in congress from the state of Indiana.

The selection of Mr. Sanders excited favorable comment in congressional circles. The choice was credited to Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, who placed Mr. Sanders in charge of the speakers' bureau at the western headquarters in Chicago in the recent campaign.

Sanders Not a "Lame Duck."
Mr. Sanders, who will resign after eight years of service in the house on March 4, is not a "political lame duck." He did not run for reelection in November. In Indiana politics Mr. Sanders had trained with the Republican faction of which Postmaster General New is acknowledged leader, although Mr. New was not consulted in reference to Mr. Sanders' appointment.

Neither was Senator Watson. It will be recalled that at Cleveland last summer Senator Watson bitterly opposed the Sanders vice presidential boom.

Hoover May Be Farm Lands.
President Coolidge may soon ask Herbert Hoover, secretary of commerce, to take the office of secretary of agriculture when the new administration is organized on March 4.

It also became known authoritatively today that Postmaster General Harry S. New had been invited to continue in that post and that he had accepted.

It was further learned today that Theodore Roosevelt, the Republican candidate for governor of New York in the recent campaign, is under consideration for appointment as director of the United States veterans' bureau. Maj. Gen. Frank T. Hines, the incumbent, it was said, would shortly retire, although the President would be content for him to stay.

Many other changes in positions below the cabinet rank, it was stated, would be made immediately following the induction of President Coolidge into office.

COUNCIL GROUP HEARS ALBERT'S TRANSIT SCHEME

Consideration of Ald. Arthur Albert's traction problem solution was undertaken by the council judiciary committee yesterday. His proposal of an amendment to the state utilities act creating a local transit commission with all the regulatory powers over local traction lines now vested in the state commerce commission, provides a short cut to increased transportation service, low fares, and traction control rule for Chicago, Mr. Albert told the committee.

The committee ordered copies of the bill, which Ald. Albert would submit to the legislature next month, prepared, and invited Corporation Counsel F. X. Busch to meet with them next week in further study of the scheme.

Meanwhile it became known that the trio of experts—Maj. R. F. Kelker Jr., for the city; W. R. Harwood, for the companies; and Gen. William Barclay Parsons, the neutral member—chosen to fix the price the city would pay for the surface lines properties under the Dever proposal, is snarled on the question of reproduction costs. As a result its report will not be forthcoming until some time next week.

The local transportation committee will resume its study of the administration traction ordinance this afternoon.

POLICE SEEK SLEDDERS.

JAZZ-GIN CRAZE, DRIVES GIRL OF 16 TO KILL MOTHER

Shoots When Parties Are Forbidden.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—A craving for jazz and gin and a mother who disapproved of this wayward life, supporting her opposition with a whip, were the two conflicting forces that brought 16-year-old Dorothy Ellington to jail today, a confessed murderess. She had slain the mother.

Now Dorothy, in her cell, is by turns weeping for the mother she has slain and writing exotic poetry—poetry verse with a tinge of Hindu philosophy.

Parents Had Separated.
At the same time her father, Joseph Ellington, a tailor, is in anguish. He separated from his wife because they had differed over Dorothy. The mother at first had defended the girl.

"I never want to see her again," cried the father.

"I hope she hangs!" exclaimed her brother, Earl, whose revolver in Dorothy's hand, killed their mother.

But she will not be hanged in California, because this state prohibits the execution of minors for any offense.

Entered Night Life.
Born in Minneapolis nearly seventeen years ago, the girl, as her story reveals, was a normal child until two years ago, when the Ellington family moved from Alameda, Cal., to San Francisco.

Then jazz stirred strange impulses within her. Large for her age, and unusually pretty, she became a prize for the dapper youths who frequented the dance halls and other questionable resorts to which she was irresistibly drawn.

"Some of those youths, seventeen in all, will be questioned by the police regarding their relations with Dorothy. A warrant for one, Keith Lord, a musician now in Los Angeles, was issued by San Francisco police today.

The girl was arrested in a rooming house this morning after Mrs. Ellington had been found dead Tuesday night by the son when he returned from work.

Blames Drug Addict at First.
She first denied even knowing her mother was dead. Then, under questioning, she told a story of a drug addict coming to her home and killing Mrs. Ellington. Then suddenly she cried:

"Call the policeman. I did it myself. I killed her Tuesday morning," police quoted the girl as saying.

"Mother scolded me because of the parties I went to and the men I went with and a lot of things that happened. She was old fashioned, and I thought my life was my own and I was going to live it my own way."

"She was going to whip me Monday night when I wanted to go to a beach party and I wouldn't let her touch me. I went to the party anyway. And the next morning I shot her as she was getting out of bed."

"I couldn't stand it longer," cried the girl. "She scolded me so hard because I had been out to the party. I shot her with my brother's revolver."

Diary Tells of Life.
In her cell the girl frankly confessed being a frequenter of San Francisco's night life cafes and dance halls. A diary found among her belongings narrated her adventures, always with the "jazz and gin" motif predominant. Some excerpts from the diary follow:

"July 10—Mother is dreadfully old fashioned and strict. Why don't she even let me go to the movies with other girls?"

"July 15—Mother whipped me when she found out I had gone to a dance instead of to Ruth's house. But it was worth it."

"Aug. 23—Met H. and K. had a fine feed. Nice fellows. This is the life. Wonderful time. I pep, jazz, gin. Went to the beach later and got drunk."

"Aug. 24—Out on a hot time party with Ben and the gang. When it was all over, I was all in."

"Aug. 24—Another whipping, but stayed home. Won't stand for another one. Will do as I please henceforth and love when I please. Tuesday another auto ride and lots of drinks. Big time. Lots of love, too."

"Aug. 25—Slept late. May called. Took a swim. Another auto ride at night. Big time. Lots of drink. And love!"

"Aug. 26—Went to work. Was late on the job. Had an argument with the boss. Quit. No more work for me. I am through if I keep this night life up."

NAKED GIRL, 15, DANCES IN SNOW WITH NUDE BOYS

High School "Petting Cult" Is Bared.

Toledo, O., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—Nude dancing in the snow by two high school boys and a 15-year-old girl today was under investigation by the federal grand jury here. The jury is already lifting a booze and petting orgy of Scott High school pupils.

A wild dance to Bacchus in the snowdrifts on one of the main streets, when the son of a prominent banker and another boy dared a freshman high school girl to strip off her clothes and take part—which she did without further ado—shocked late pedestrians into calling police, it was revealed.

Bare "Petting Cult."
The flapper admitted that a luxurious apartment has been maintained in a downtown building by the financier's son as a gathering place for a "petting cult," composed almost entirely of Libby High school pupils.

New details of the "Petters of 1925" shocked the staid fathers of another generation in the federal jury's continued probe of a Scott High school "Thanksgiving eve party."

The party started tamely enough in Collingwood hall, witnesses said, but soon bootleggers appeared and with them a flood of liquor.

Battle Royal Starts.
To the syncopation of a colored saxophone sextet the school boys and girls grew giddy and giddy under the influence of champagne, gin, and Scotch whisky. Soon a battle royal started over whose sweetie was whose and in fifteen minutes the hall was a wreck.

Police men who tried to interfere were thrown heading down the stairs and into the street.

When the weary musicians showed a tendency to slow up the wild cacophony of the dance, pocket flasks and drinking cups were flung at them.

Commander Spooning Quarters.
Ambitious petters, all in their teens, found no comparative privacy in the hall for their spooning. They promptly broke into the janitor's living rooms, downstairs, and when he objected, threw him out and broke up his furniture.

One of the bootleggers who furnished the liquor to the children has been indicted and sentenced to Atlanta, and the jury declares all responsible for the party, regardless of social rank, will be punished to the law's limit.

The case of the nude dancers comes up Jan. 31.

WM. A. SHEPHERD MADE AN OFFICER OF HIS CHURCH

Resolutions of complete confidence in Attorney William A. Shepherd and his wife, chief beneficiaries under the will of William Nelson McClintock, were wired to the Shepherds in Albuquerque, N. M., yesterday by their fellow parishioners in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Evanston. The telegram was sent after Mr. Shepherd had been elected a vice president of the congregation.

The wire was sent after the Shepherds had expressed by telegram to the church's annual meeting their adherence to the faith and to the church pastor, the Rev. A. C. Naumann, foremost in the fight to clear Shepherd's name in the recent investigation of McClintock's death, instigated by Chief Justice Harry Olson.

"We express heartiest approval of your message of faith and good will," the wire to the Shepherds said. "We have never had the slightest doubt of your own faith and consecration to the Lord and Master, and feel assured He will answer our prayers that your vindication will be complete in every sense."

DETROIT FACES GRAVE SEWAGE PROBLEM ALSO

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—Detroit will in the immediate future be called upon to face a sewage disposal problem not unlike that facing Chicago, for Detroit dumps its raw sewage into the Detroit river in defiance of a treaty with Great Britain.

This has aroused considerable resentment in Canadian towns across the river and more recently protests have come from Toledo, Put-in-Bay, and other cities of Lake Erie. The city has no plans for relieving the situation, but is awaiting the time that the war department will order the discontinuance of the pollution of the stream.

Under the terms of the treaty signed in 1909 no city is permitted to pollute the border streams to a greater degree than 500 bacilli per cubic centimeter of water. The last tests made in Detroit river by the Detroit board of health in 1919 showed that to every cubic centimeter of water there were at that time more than 500,000 organisms.

Protests Made Repeatedly.

Protests have been repeatedly made since that time by the civic authorities of Windsor, Walkerville and Sandwich, lying on the Canadian side of the stream, against the continued pollution.

Detroit faced the sewage disposal problem in 1916 when an act of congress was passed which prohibited the dumping of the raw sewage into the river. But the outbreak of the war the following year resulted in a stay of enforcement of this act. Since that time the city has completed a gigantic sewer system. The largest sewers in the world have been constructed and the flow from them goes into the river without any treatment whatever. One of these sewers is large enough to carry six street cars abreast. The smallest has a diameter of nine feet. Detroit expects eventually to build disposal plants. The refuse, after treatment, would still go into the Detroit river, but it is hoped that it would then be sufficiently purified to comply with the treaty.

Canadian Officials Lament.

The fact that the city has not yet been compelled properly to dispose of its sewage results chiefly from suffering on the part of the Canadian authorities. Complaints have been sent to Ottawa by the authorities of the Canadian towns, but no formal protest has been made to Washington in the last few years. Detroit does not intend to proceed to cure the evil until compelled to do so.

Engineers estimate that an adequate purification system will cost $40,000,000.

Within the last few weeks, however, complaints have been registered against the pollution by American towns and cities below Detroit. The pollution in the Rouge river near Spring Wells, Mich., reached such a degree that the huge intake pipes which carry water to the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plants were choked up. This brought a threat from Spring Wells that unless the city immediately remedied the situation an appeal would be made to the state and national health authorities. This complaint resulted in the appointment of a sewage disposal commission to study the situation.

Summer Sports Curtailed.

Bathing beaches below Detroit and in Ohio cities have frequently complained because of the pollution of the stream by Detroit. Cities lying below Detroit are forced to use considerable chlorine in order to kill bacteria. Down river islands and it is impossible to attract pleasure seekers in the summer as a result of the pollution, while pleasure boating in the river below the city has entirely disappeared.

That the Canadian cities will make a strong effort to force compliance with the treaty during the present session of the Canadian parliament is apparent. If the protest is effective Detroit must spend several millions annually for additional pumping facilities besides the original cost of the disposal plant. The present city income will not be sufficient to handle this added burden.

VOTE MILLION TO PROTECT LEVEL AT OTHER PORTS

to William G. Bruce, president of the association.

Bruce denounced Chicago's plea for more water as "a bold attempt in the halls of congress to sanctify theft of water from the great lakes into an honest act" and declared that "it safeguards Chicago's health by menacing that of Illinois river district residents."

C. A. Maguire, ex-mayor of Toronto, asserted that he and fellow Canadians are shocked at the manner in which

Chicago has undertaken its fight "in defiance of the courts and the congress of the country."

Other speakers from Erie, Pa.; Duluth, Minn.; Niagara Falls, N. Y.; Detroit, Mich.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Sandusky, O.; and Lorain, O., rapped Chicago's sewage disposal and waterway plans. The governors of seven states have been invited to send representatives to another protest meeting in Washington on Jan. 30.

Canadian and American cities around Lake Erie are preparing to protest vigorously to their respective federal governments against further pollution of the lake water by sewage from Detroit's gigantic sewers. Under the treaty of 1909, Detroit is permitted to pollute its bordering stream to a point not more than 500 bacilli per cubic centimeter of water. Recent analyses showed more than 500,000 bacilli in every cubic centimeter of water.

A similar crisis, forced upon the city in 1916, when congress passed an act prohibiting dumping of raw sewage into the river, was averted by the treaty of the war. Since then Detroit has completed some of the largest sewers in the world.

FLYERS SPEED OVER BALKANS; LAND IN VIENNA

Invited to Luncheon, but They Paid the Bill.

BY LOWELL THOMAS.
(Copyright, 1925, by The Chicago Tribune. Newspaper Syndicate and the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

SECTION LV.
In exactly four hours and forty minutes the world flyers had flown from Constantinople and the coast of Asia Minor across Europe's whirlpool of racial rivalry. They had passed over Thrace, looked down from their cockpit at the peaks of the Balkan mountains, flowers all the way across Bulgaria, and landed on the outskirts of Bucharest in southern Roumania. On this flight they had beheld from the skies the witches' children of Europe.

Ahead of them lay the Transylvanian Alps, a region of haunted castles, magic talismans, "werewolves," vampires, and of passionate eyes murder where the people all dance on Sunday as a part of their religion of joy.

For some mysterious reason their telegrams from Aleppo and Constantinople had failed to get through to this kingdom of ghosts and enchantment. So not a soul was waiting for them when they landed at Bucharest. They telephoned to Col. Poy, the American consul, and then went to work refueling the planes, if anything rather relieved at not having a crowd around for once. Two hours later the colonel dashed up in a car and exclaimed that he had thought they were still thousands of miles away in southern Asia.

Queen Not at Home.
But the keenest disappointment to the flyers was when they discovered that the queen of Roumania and her beautiful daughters were not in Bucharest. Away out in Burma "Smiling Jack" had been in the Bangkok Gazette that the rumored marriage of the Prince of Wales to a Roumanian princess had fallen through. "This had sort of raised Jack's hopes that he might be able to qualify as a modern Prince of Graustark," said "Les" Arnold.

"Naturally, we had all been fanning the flames of Jack's ambition ever since leaving Rangoon, so when we heard that the queen and her beautiful daughters were away it was indeed a deep disappointment to all of us. But our hearts started to beat once more when, the next day, we received a message from her majesty which had been sent down by special courier from her summer castle in the Transylvanian Alps. Lo and behold it was an invitation for us to come and spend the week-end with her."

"We were reluctantly obliged to send our regrets and a reply that we were hurrying around the world, but that we hoped we might have the opportunity of availing ourselves of her majesty's gracious hospitality a little later on. So you see how really close Jack came to realizing his dream."

His Irresistible Smile.
"As all who know him agree, Jack's smile is irresistible. And had he met a princess we have no doubt but what one result of our flight around the world would have been that Jack would have returned to the Balkans as king of Herzegovina, Duke of Przemysl, or at least as a baron in Bessarabia."

That night an impromptu dinner was given in honor of the American airmen by some of the foreign colony in the

FLY FROM BUCHAREST TO VIENNA

On July 13 the flyers left Bucharest for Vienna. They flew through the Iron Gate, the gorge where the Danube river breaks through the Transylvanian Alps, and reached Budapest for lunch. In the afternoon they flew on to Vienna.

Roumanian capital. There were many in attendance, and the picturesque uniforms of the Balkans added color to the occasion. During the evening the chief of the Roumanian air service came in. He had rushed down from the summer capital when he had heard of the arrival of the American world flight. He, too, had thought they were still in far off Baghdad or Persia, and profusely apologized on behalf of the Roumanian government for not being able to give the flyers a really royal Roumanian reception.

At the end of the party the American airmen were presented with the bill not only for their own dinners but for the dinners of all the others who had attended as well. This even included the tips and taxicab fares of those whom they had thus had the honor of meeting. This, however, was not done with the knowledge of any of the Roumanians.

Baths as Annual Affairs.
"Baths, if indulged in at all, are evidently annual events in the Balkans," continued "Les" Arnold. "We all had separate rooms and Erik and Leigh were by themselves at one end of a corridor. Erik tried to turn on the water in his room, but nothing happened. Then he went into Leigh's marble-floored quarters to see if he might have any better luck there. But the result was the same. Leigh, however, neglected to turn off the faucet. An hour later Lowell went into Leigh's room and found it knee deep in water. The bed was afloat and the chairs were cruising about. But there lay Leigh, sound asleep, not even dreaming that he was in danger of being drowned. Lowell called the hotel attendants, who bailed the water out with buckets. Leigh slept right through it all and never knew anything had happened until Lowell told him about it the next morning."

Off for Budapest.
"Sunday, July 13, we were up at 3 a. m. and got off for Budapest and Vienna at 5:40. The sun was just coming up over the lagoons and marshes of Dobruja as we crossed the Danube landing field of the Franco-Roumanian Aero company and flew over the great plain of the province of Wallachia, which is one of the principal granaries of the world."

"We saw very little of this interesting Balkan country from the ground because we were hurrying across Europe. But during our few hours in Bucharest we learned that modern Roumania was a comparatively young country and had only come into existence a year or two before our civil war. It is made up of two principalities that had been under the control of the Turks in Constantinople."

"Its inhabitants are nearly all descendants of a colony of Roman soldiers sent here by the Emperor Trajan about the second century after Christ. As one would expect, they are an extremely proud people, and they are particularly proud of their language, which is very little different from the classical Latin we are familiar with from our high school study of Caesar and Cicero. Nearly all of the Roumanians belong to the Greek Orthodox church and look upon the patriarch of Constantinople as their religious leader. They are happy people and inordinately fond of folk dances. They also are intensely superstitious, and nearly all of them firmly believe in vampires, revenants, werewolves, and haunted castles."

Over Beautiful Danube.
"From the rich farming country around Bucharest we flew almost due west until we reached the Danube where it flows through the Transylvanian Alps. The Danube, next to the Volga, is the largest river in Europe. From where it empties into the Black sea to Vienna is over 1,200 miles. We followed the Danube first where it forms the boundary between Roumania and Bulgaria and then where it forms the boundary between Roumania and the new country of Jugoslavia. We passed through a mountain gorge that was wild in its grandeur, and shortly after reaching the ancient plains of Serbia we saw the church spires of a city just ahead and a moment later were flying over Belgrade, at the junction of the Danube and Save rivers."

"Here, at the foot of Mount Avala, lay the city that for many years has been the capital of Serbia and is now the principal city of the powerful and ambitious state bordering on the eastern shore of the Adriatic."

"We had not arranged to stop at Belgrade, and as we had plenty of fuel on board and the engines of all three planes were running perfectly, we followed right on up the Danube, crossed the border from Jugoslavia into Hungary, flew over the rich Hungarian plains, and after seven hours and fifty minutes in the air landed at Budapest.

As a matter of fact, there are two cities here instead of one. Buda, on the right hand side, clings to a mountain. Pest is spread out over the beautiful Danubian plain to the left. If my memory serves me rightly it was on the outskirts of Pest that we landed.

"The Hungarians, or Magyars, as they call themselves, are a proud and ambitious people. We merely stopped in their great city to pay our respects to a nation that has supplied America with so many hundreds of thousands of its citizens. Orders had been received from Washington for us to drop down here on our way to Vienna. There had been a great crowd out as the field to welcome us, but about 10:30 in the morning one of these rumors that one can never account for ran through the throng to the effect that we were not coming. So when we reached Budapest at 1:40 all but a few had gone back to the city."

Push On to Vienna.
"We only stopped for an hour, just long enough to be whisked through the streets of this great Magyar city of near a million people, which some travelers claim is Paris, Vienna, and London all rolled in one, a combination of the gayeties of the capitals of the world, with a little distinctive Hungarian perspective thrown in. After a fleeting glimpse at the famous 'Corso' along the Blue Danube and an exceedingly delicious luncheon with group of delightful Hungarian officials, we climbed back into the cockpits of our cruisers and once more were on our way to Vienna."

"In less than two hours we had flown up the winding Danube and crossed Hungary into Austria. In another twenty minutes we were looking down on the city that has gone through more vicissitudes than any other in central Europe, the ancient city of the holy Roman empire, and until recently the capital of the ill-fated Austro-Hungarian empire. Vienna lay spread out like a map beneath us. Especially noticeable was the Ring-strasse, the famous boulevard, two miles in circumference, that has taken the place of the old walls."

"When we located the aerodrome on the outskirts of Vienna we saw an airplane in front of the hangars. To our surprise they nearly all turned out to be Americans, more of our own countrymen than we had encountered anywhere else in the world. And the manner in which they welcomed us made us think that we were indeed rapidly nearing America."

Safir Adds Tale of Woe to Charges Against Means

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

New York, Jan. 15.—[Special.]—Sam Safir, shrewd Chicago stock salesman, who is under sentence of two and a half years at Atlanta for defrauding investors in his wares, gave new details today in the Means-Felder conspiracy trial of how Gaston B. Means, former department of justice agent, mesmerized him into mortgaging his home and borrowing from his relatives to raise $28,000, his share of the $50,000, which Means wasted in fixing his case in Washington and New York.

"I gave the money to my lawyer, Joseph O. Koesterer," he said. "When it came to turning it over in the office of Col. Thomas B. Felder on Oct. 31, 1922, Means and the other defendants and Koesterer were all gathered around a large table."

"It was that same day in his hotel that Means showed us his badge and identification to prove that he was with the department of justice. Means said to Henry Sideman, Samuel Rosenblatt, and myself:

"Boys, do you want to get rich? I asked him what the proposition was and he said never mind about that. He said: 'Rose, how would you like to be rich?' Rosenblatt said he guessed he would go back to the practice of law. Sideman said that he did not want to get into trouble."

"Filing" Filivers.
"A few days later, when we thought the whole thing was fixed and over, we found the government was still arresting our salesmen."

"About this time I was up in Col. Felder's office and he picked up the telephone in answer to a call. And I heard him say: 'Hello, general, how is the missus?' I will be very glad to see you at 2 o'clock. He turned to me and said that was Attorney General Daugherty and that Mrs. Daugherty was ill. He was to see the general and fix things and we were to come back at 5 o'clock. We came and Harold Spielberg, Felder's partner, showed us a man in the office that he said was Dave Lamar, the wolf of Wall street."

"Felder said he was going to Washington to fight the impeachment for Daugherty and that everything would be all right and we should not worry."

"We were indicted and I went to Felder's office again and said: 'This don't look much like fixing. We paid you $50,000 to prevent this indictment. Felder said: 'We did not get $50,000; we only got $25,000. The rest went to Washington and Chicago.' I said: 'This is a fine fix we are in. You have taken all our money and now we are indicted and they want a $75,000 bond and all you do is to tell us not to worry.'"

When Safir finally found that the case was not fixed and that he had to stand trial, he hired another lawyer, sued Felder for the return of the $50,000 and told his story to Assistant Attorneys General John Crim and Guy D. Coff in Washington, and to United States Attorney Hayward and Henry A. Wise in New York.

"Safir said he had operated in Chicago for years and had been in Milwaukee before that. He said he knew who Secretary Mellon, Daugherty, and Burns were and their reputation."

And knowing that Mr. Mellon was head of one of the largest banking institutions in the United States, you were assured that he would accept this case."

"I did not believe or disbelieve." The defense is bearing down on the improbability of such a situation and trying to show that Col. Felder and Aid. Koesterer, as paid attorneys, earned their money.

Padorn to Testify Today.
Isador D. Padorn of the Federal Service agency, Transportation Building, Chicago, will be the next witness in the trial which is to be held in the federal court here. He is expected to develop in his testimony other "fixing" cases handled by Means, whose Chicago agent he was.

Sam Schmidt, a Chicago jeweler, is another important witness. Ramifications of the "fixing" industry in Chicago and Washington may come from these witnesses and from Elmer Jarnecke, who has pleaded guilty in this case and will take the stand for the government. Col. Felder's defense will be largely character witnesses.

LINCOLN'S COUP TO GET FREEDOM FAILS; TRIAL ON

Geneva, Ill., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—A coup by which Warren J. Lincoln might have won his freedom was defeated in Circuit court this afternoon when Judge William J. Fulton overruled a contention of the counsel for the confessed slayer that the list from which the jurors will be picked is illegal because it was not selected at the September meeting of the Kane county board of supervisors.

Had the contention been upheld, the lawyer-forist, who has admitted he sealed the heads of his victims in a concrete block and burned their bodies in the furnace of his greenhouse, could have made his freedom certain. Lawyers assert, because there would be no legal jury to try him before next September.

Four terms of court would pass by that time and Lincoln would be demanding a trial which it would be impossible to give.

The coup having failed, the selecting of the jury will begin tomorrow. Insanity will be the defense.

NURSES' STORIES BRING ARREST OF JEKYL HYDE

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—A typical Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde was overpowered and arrested in a lonely farmhouse a short distance in the suburbs of Detroit. He is Herman Simmons, 51 years old, a widower and confessed assailant of several nurses.

Here is the kind of a man he is, according to Mrs. John Grove, mother of his dead wife, and with whom he and his five children live:

Industrious, kind, mild mannered, a student of the Bible. Sunday school teacher, occasionally occupying the pulpit on Sundays. Does not smoke, chew, or drink.

Here is the kind of a man he is, according to the sheriff's investigators: Indolent, scheming, treacherous, unusually brutal, a menace to womanhood, a fighting demon when aroused. Simmons, whose wife died last October, was arrested on a lonely farm on the middle belt road, a mile north of Michigan avenue, where he had driven Mrs. Martha Pike, a nurse. This also was the scene of five other attacks, it is said.

REDS HOPE FOR U. S. TREATY WITH KELLOGG ON JOB

Moscow Is Pleased with Hughes Successor.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.]
RIGA, Jan. 15.—Commenting on the retirement of Secretary of State Hughes, the Moscow Pravda states that America finally has become too small for Americans and the appointment of Frank B. Kellogg will mark a new era in the peaceful penetration of the United States into foreign affairs. Mr. Kellogg's former connection with oil interests is stressed by the editor, who predicts that Mr. Hughes' policy of American isolation is ended.

"Mr. Hughes represented the concentration of hatred and vulgar American capitalism," the paper says. "But American capitalism is suffering apoplexy from too much gold and is now seeking an outlet for its surplus by investments in Germany, the union of the Soviet republics, and in China. We may expect a slight change in America's policy towards us."

The Pravda further predicts increasingly close cooperation between England and America, saying: "Should England build the Singapore base against Japan, thus uniting with America, who is tending Japan through the maneuvers of her Pacific fleet, then it is probable that an Anglo-American bloc will exploit China."

STRENGTHEN'S HERriot

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright, 1925, By The Chicago Tribune.]
PARIS, Jan. 15.—Washington reports that the Coolidge-Kellogg combination intends to alter the United States' attitude toward the Soviets in the case of rejoining by French newspapers supporting Premier Herriot and consternation in the opposition press seeking to reelect M. Poincaré or M. Millerand.

The principal point of attack by the nationalist reactionary press when Premier Herriot announced that he intended to recognize the Soviets was the fact that the United States still refused to recognize them.

The Tribune is informed that Russia is ready to subscribe to Mr. Coolidge's three conditions, provided easy terms are made for reimbursement of its indebtedness and recognition of certain Soviet counter claims for damages sustained as a result of the American forces' mixing in Russia's internal affairs in 1918. Moscow is willing to pledge no propaganda in the United States.

EUROPE HAILS KELLOGG AS FIRST YANKEE TO BRING PARIS TO TIME

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 15.—Surprise expressed in American newspapers over the appointment of Frank B. Kellogg as the American secretary of state to replace Charles Evans Hughes and of Alanson Houghton as ambassador to Great Britain is not shared here.

Mr. Kellogg is known here as the only American since the war to obtain any concession from the French government. He brought the Herriot ministry to approve the Dawes plan and also to recognize the existence of the French war debts to the United States.

Mr. Houghton's services were political as well as diplomatic. As ambassador to Germany he thoroughly endeared himself to the German nation. With this asset he stumped the northwest for President Coolidge and drew thousands of German-American votes from Robert La Follette. It was Mr. Houghton's ambition to be transferred from Berlin to London. This change was made as a reward to him.

Ambassador Frank B. Kellogg as secretary of state either toward a resumption of relations with Russia or direct American participation in European affairs will be a great surprise to the ambassador's immediate entourage.

Mr. Kellogg, who at the time of the treaty debate in the senate was a mild reservationist, has not changed.

Milk of Magnesia Users Try This!

Science combines Milk of Magnesia with Mineral Oil to fight constipation and acidosis.

Modern civilization with its heavy overeating and its lack of exercise has brought two great foes of human health: constipation and acidosis (sour stomach). Your indigestion, heartburn, that dark brown taste in the morning—are all symptoms of this condition.

Milk of Magnesia is fine for neutralizing harmful stomach acids but milk of magnesia alone, only goes half way. Therefore Science has combined pure mineral oil with this splendid agent.

Haley's Magnesia-Oil is the name of this perfect emulsion upon which the U. S. Government has granted a patent. The milk of magnesia counteracts and neutralizes the acids and the mineral oil lubricates the intestines, overcoming constipation naturally without forming a habit. Haley's M-O can be taken safely by young or old. It is non-habit-forming and contains no drugs or other harmful agents.

Stop at your druggist's today and get a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil. Take some tonight before going to bed and get up tomorrow morning feeling like a new person. All druggists—large family size $1.00. The Haley M-O Company, Indianapolis, Ind.

his views upon these two questions, it is believed, and unless his opinion has changed after conferring with President Coolidge there is every reason to believe he will adhere to Secretary of State Hughes' policies in these matters. The Tribune is informed.

Plenty of Entertainment

Mr. Kellogg, who is returning to London tonight, is most anxious to get packed up and everything in readiness for his departure about the middle of February, but he will return here to face a raft of formal and informal entertainments in his honor. These are twice those usual for a returning ambassador, since his appointment as secretary of state redoubles the interest in his personality.

The Pilgrims club, the king and queen, and possibly Austen Chamberlain and Prime Minister Baldwin already are upon the list of diners, while scores of invitations from every description of society and league are pouring in daily.

One of the offices he will be happy to escape this year is the selection of thirty blushing American debutantes from the swarm of American society lights who annually apply to be presented to the court. It is the ambassador's prerogative to name thirty, and he is besieged with all manner of wire pulling and cajoling upon the part of wealthy United States matrons to get their daughters included.

Expected 1,000 Applications.

During the first part of this year there have been 158 applications received, which is likely to hit the thousand mark by March, when the event comes off. Mr. Kellogg, who already was scratching his head trying to solve how he was going to settle the matter without offending hundreds of nice ladies, is overjoyed at being able to shift the task to Ambassador Alanson B. Houghton.

Golden State Limited

Designers of the new GOLDEN STATE LIMITED Pullmans made a discovery—this is no longer just a man's world. So they provided for women lavishly—a commodious lounge room where Milady may rest in luxurious ease; an immaculate bathroom, exclusively for her use; big, roomy dressing rooms; a maid, expert in hairdressing and manicuring; and a barber, adept at bobs and shingles.

However, mere man has not been forgotten. He has his club car, bath, valet and barber. That's why passengers are happy and satisfied—in a mood to enjoy the colorful scenery—El Paso, the Rio Grande, the Desert that blooms, Imperial Valley, Carrizo Gorge. It's the short interesting way.

CONCERTED ACTION AGAINST CRIME.

Chicago members of the Committee of One Thousand for Law Enforcement invited Mayor Dever and Chief of Police Collins to a conference at the Chicago club and agreed to put their influence back of crime suppression. This committee in its national organization ought to have a great deal of influence. In its recent eastern meetings, in New York, where Mayor Dever was its guest, and in Washington, where its members were the guests of President Coolidge, the people in attendance were notable, including Mr. Rockefeller Jr. and Mr. Gary.

Wealth has influence and can have it on the side of right. Thus far it has been observed that the only law considered by the committee was the prohibition law. The Chicago conference indicated a larger view, which is good in a city which has Chicago's annual record of murder and rape.

In the new concentration of activity in support of law enforcement the Chicago crime commission was ignored, and it is said, will be ignored. The commission is regarded as an obstacle by the city government. It is thought to have heckled and frustrated the administration too much. The conference did not want reporters present. The crime commission and The Tribune would worry if they are not considered necessary in otherwise concerted action against the menace of the criminal.

They have not been engaged in the campaign against crime as an amusement or indoor sport. It has been a thankless and unpleasant work to which no other public bodies or institutions were paying any attention and it was necessary to make people give it attention. The crime commission is organized to stay on the job and we are sure will do so. The Tribune will support any citizenship movement which tries to give protection to the citizens.

Any recognition of the existence and effect of crime will be encouraged and we think it will be found good by many wealthy members of the Committee of One Thousand to recognize law enforcement in a wider and more important field than that in which they have yet considered it.

Many of them were connected with old monopolies and trusts, oil, steel, etc., and some years ago they were being pursued by a none too considerate populace inspired by violent leaders eloquent of the wrongs of the people. It is at least plausible that these pursued men of affairs decided to turn the chase up another street and at the heels of another quarry if possible and that the enthusiasm for prohibition was an indication of their plan to divert the moral force away from them and against something else.

From succeeded steel and oil as the object of the hunt, and so long as the men of great affairs urged the moral force on in that direction alone, forgetting other violations of law, they would be thought to be dragging a herring across the trail.

Whatever considerations bring them with their influence into this greater matter of making the people of the United States, the peaceable people, safe in their lives, homes and property, whether they believe in Volstead or not, the advent of a new force on the side of real law and order will be welcomed with relief. We hope it comes and remains.

In other discussions of the day, aside from that at the Chicago club, the Rev. Charles A. Gage, pastor of the Hyde Park Methodist church, said that the responsibility for the crime situation was at Mayor Dever's door. It is to the extent that he is the head of police administration. He is not by nature a man to condone the situation. Our criticism has been that prohibition has crowded crimes of violence out of his imagination and that all the approval given him by ministers and moralists who did not take the same position of Mr. Gage, of the Rev. John Thompson and a minority of the views, would continue to make him stress enforcement and be preoccupied with it.

Harry A. Wheeler, president of the Union Trust company, at the Association of Commerce luncheon, said that the newspapers were agents of crime, being text books of the coming generation and texts filled with filth.

We are not disposed to close our eyes to criticism if it comes home. Mr. Wheeler said that the newspaper as a commercial institution would give its readers what they wanted, that the readers wanted stories of crime, and that a change would come when they wanted something else. A newspaper does not do its editing in that careless way but we recommend this idea of newspaper responsibility to the city editors and managing editors for consideration.

With a policy of hush on crime we have no sympathy. It cannot be treated as non-existent when it affects life. But it certainly is no part of a decent newspaper's scheme to stimulate what it fights.

There is this about the whole situation now.

GET THE METERS SOON.

Mal. Putnam, U. S. engineer assigned to Chicago, says that Chicago must install meters, if not now, it will be personally enforced, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed, Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

Copyright: 1925: By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will permit, the replies will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations, and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed, Dr. Evans will not make a diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. When hicoughs are dangerous.

HICOUGH is merely a symptom—something more or less annoying. It means that something is irritating the motor nerve which goes to the diaphragm. The diaphragm is the heavy muscle which separates the chest and its contents, the lungs and the heart, from the abdomen and its contents. The irritation of this nerve piles up until the battery fills up, whereupon an impulse shoots down the nerve and the diaphragm contracts spasmodically. The irritation which causes this periodic discharge of nerve force may be in the stomach, in the entrance door. It may be in the esophagus; it may be somewhere else in the neighborhood.

For the last five or six years what is probably a new disease has been traveling around the world. The people call it "sleeping sickness." But the physicians don't like the name. They say that many of the cases don't sleep at all. Some are extremely wakeful. Some talk like a house afire night and day. "Talking sickness" is a better name for that group of cases. "Talking sickness" is a better name for that group of cases. "Talking sickness" is a better name for that group of cases.

A FAMILY THAT DATES FROM NOAH.

While this department considers the dangers of bureaucratic control of individual habit, Dr. Evans in his adjoining department describes the physical if not moral dangers of rum. About every one who disagrees with us agrees with him and some who agree with us agree with him. The doctor is a dry for prudence if for nothing else.

Recently he wrote of the hereditary of the prince of Wales, quoting Meritt Hawkes on the British royal line, with its greatest ancestors in the houses of Hesse-Cassel and of Coburg. The ordinary family, said Dr. Evans, rarely remains forceful enough, brainy or vigorous enough to be traced more than three or five generations, but the family of the prince of Wales goes straight back to Noah, the original saloon bum.

It is not telling tales out of school to say that a good deal of this time it has lived in the shade of the grape vine Noah planted. It has had strength in its elbow from the days of the ten quart pot which took strength to swing, down to those days of red eye which does not take so much lifting for results. It has been devoted to light and heavy beer, light and heavy wines, and anything which came stronger.

The prince has no aversions his forbears did not have. His father was the same and his grandfather was the best fellow in Europe. The Georges were riotous and their ancestors had all the full bodied habits of a great race of Germans.

Prudence was nothing in the lives of this ancient breed from the time of Noah to now, and if Dr. Evans wants to present them as examples of cautious living we'll have to have more evidence. Probably it is only a mark of the physical sturdiness of the family which enabled it to keep going in a manner of life which would have limited a Scotch longshoreman's family to two generations.

THE ITALIAN REDS GIVEN FREEDOM OF THE WIRES.

Mussolini's censorship permitted the sending of dispatches describing the scene in the chamber of deputies when the Reds, particularly Grieco, promised him that his rule would be stopped by the revolutionary proletariat and by the man in the street with a gun.

If he did not subsidize the speech he might have. If a Fascist speaker had foretold what Red terrorism would follow the downfall of Fascism the red of the world would have taken it as rhetoric to support the dictatorship. Mussolini allowed the world to hear his enemies and judge whether he was justified in taking the high hand to preserve Italian society.

In Italy it would warn the conservatives who oppose him that the Reds of Italy want their heads. The censorship went off that speech. Mussolini sat silently as it was made and then permitted it to go wherever men would listen to it.

MOTOR TRUCKS NOT COMMON CARRIERS.

The Supreme court has decided that the motor truck is not a common carrier and is not subject to interstate commerce regulations touching common carriers. The decision is important. It prevents one more effort to prevent a natural evolution in transportation.

The railroads want the motor trucks classified as common carriers. Other people, for the most part, prefer them in their present status. The tendency to leave motor trucking alone we believe to be a good one.

Motor trucking is still an experimental arm of transportation that should be left free from development. It cannot develop experimentally under restrictive regulation. Why the railroads themselves have not utilized them more is not clear. Until they their efforts to restrict motor trucking by regulatory paralysis are hardly justified.

The Other Side

CHICAGO'S BAD LEADERSHIP.

[Milwaukee Journal.]

Do you see the Mississippi valley's very existence threatened by tyranny? This Chicago Tribune says it. It does anybody on earth think Chicago is threatened by a despotism? The Tribune tells its readers that it is. Has Chicago been treated for twenty years as though it were conquered territory? No, not that any one has heard of.

But these categorical statements are The Chicago Tribune's answer to the decision of the Supreme court of the United States that the great lakes are too important to have their future governed by one city's desires to wash away its sewage and make profits on cheap power. And in an article intended to be alarming The Tribune nobly declares it is time "for Chicago and the whole Mississippi valley to rise in revolt."

How, and it is that a great city should have such leadership as this. With its awful toll of crime and death and graft and waste, what Chicago needs most is not further incitement to foment the law of the land and the rights of sister cities and sister states, but honest, calm information about what the situation really is and suggestions for getting down to the business of taking care of its sewage without poisoning the waters of its sister cities and drawing off more and more water from the commercial routes of our inland seas.

Consider now of another character. Muskegon, a little city beside the vast and wealthy Chicago, started planning five years ago for a sewage disposal plant. Now that Chicago must discontinue use of so much water, Muskegon feels morally obliged at least to hasten its plans for the $3,000,000 disposal plant. "What might not Chicago be if it heard also of 'moral obligation' instead of listening to The Tribune's alarmist plea that it do something to let it continue the abuse of its sister cities in sister states, its privileges at the expense of fellow Americans?"

THE DAY.

"The time will come," shouted the lecturer, "when women will get men's wages."

"Yes," shouted a little man in the back seat, "next Saturday night."—Bucknell Belle Hop.

Subjects for newspaper articles. The Associated Press is as happy over a hicough case as they are over a case of rattlesnake bite.

Fortunately, most cases of polioencephalitis get well in time, the hicoughing as well as the other kinds. In the hicoughing kind the attending physician commonly gives chloroform, any, benzyl, crotonate, morphine, or any and everything else that he has ever heard of as a remedy for hicough. After days or weeks the hicoughs stop. Maybe the drug in use on that day stopped it or helped to stop it. Who knows?

Don't let anybody be deceived. That kind of hicough is a serious disease. It is an infection of the brain, and one case is epidemic, or a possible epidemic. To think of it in any other light is not fair either to the patient or to the public.

ULTRA VIOLET LIGHT.

Mrs. E. A. F. writes: What are ultra violet rays and what are they used for? I have been advised to have them on my son of 11. Do you think it safe?

REPLY.

Ultra violet rays are that part of the light ray where the waves are very short. The human eye cannot see them. They are used in the treatment of some diseases. Ultra violet light is safe when properly used.

BABY HAS TETTER.

Mrs. J. L. T. writes: What causes the formation of crusts on a baby's head? What is it called? What is a cure for it?

REPLY.

The usual cause is tetter. It is a skin disease. As a rule, the food is too rich in fat or too abundant. It may be caused by any one of the food elements.

COLD BATH GOOD FOR HIM.

Mrs. M. C. writes: My husband takes a cold bath every morning. My friends tell me it is not good for him. Will it injure his health? What good will it do him?

REPLY.

It is not wise to let neighbors interfere with a husband's bath.

MR. DENTIST, TAKE THE STAND.

C. R. D. writes: It is possible to reconstruct a pug nose?

REPLY.

Yes—within limits.

FRIEND OF THE PEOPLE

Letters to this department must be signed with names and addresses of writers.

JUDGMENT IN ORDER.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 15.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A, while living in Ohio, went on a man's bond for a few hundred dollars. Later A. sold his property and moved to an adjoining state. In the meantime the man that A. helped disappeared.

1. What can A. do with A, as he is no longer a citizen of Ohio after 6 o'clock in the evening on weekdays the vestibule is locked when they leave, which makes me have to go down to let people in. Can I be compelled to be compelled to furnish a push-button?

A. I. B.

No, he cannot be compelled to put in such equipment.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DUNNED FOR HER GIFT.

Chicago, Jan. 12.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—I received a watch from a friend as a Christmas present. The jewelry concern where it was bought, has called me about payment on it. They said I would either have to return the watch or pay cash payment on it. Am I liable for the balance, inasmuch as the watch was given to me?

L. W.

You are not liable unless the seller has a valid receipt charged with the watch.

TRIBUTE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

60 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 16, 1865.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A vast assembly of peace talks which now floods the capital is absurd. It is not true that ambassadors from Jeff Davis are here or that any authorized ambassador has been named. The only person named is Richmond, or that any serious expectation of the senior Blair's mission or that of Gen. Singleton is anticipated. So far as any actual authority was given by the Lincoln government to Richmond, it was solely on private grounds.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.—The utmost quiet still reigns along the line in front of the army. Even picket firing seems to have been given up.

NEW YORK.—A letter from George Seward, secretary and general superintendent of the Atlantic Telegraph company, to Cyrus W. Field, states that the amount of cable already completed for laying across the Atlantic is 750 miles. Mr. Seward has no doubt that the cable will be successfully laid and worked.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—Petitions continue to pour into the general assembly from all parts of the state for the repeal of the infamous black laws and all other laws upon our statute books placing disabilities upon the black race in this state. It may not be generally known that Gen. John A. Logan was the author of the black laws of 1858.

CHICAGO.—Enlistments were exceedingly dull on Saturday (Jan. 14), not more than six recruits having been secured.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 16, 1900.

LONDON.—Rumors of battles, victories, defeats and retreats, in the Ludism neighborhood continue, but there is no official news, and none is likely either until Gen. Buller has gained or lost the objective of his mysterious movement.

CHICAGO.—Striking planmakers resorted to violent tactics yesterday. They subverted the factory of the George P. Bent company at 245 Westington boulevard and assaulted all of the men who attempted to enter the building.

HONOLULU.—The bubonic plague still holds its grip on this city and officials are fighting it with fire. Twenty solid blocks, including the tenderness of Honolulu, have been raised by flames.

THE FLAME THAT DIES.

Forever, after April, May
Drifts slowly on Her rose-swept way.

Beyond the hill
And past the plain
The tide creeps in
And out again.

And through the mist
Along the coast,
Love flies, a mournful
Bitter ghost....

The vows you make
Are fragile things
That pass like moths
With tattered wings....

And there is only
In your eyes,
The flame that deepens
Ere it dies.

A BILL introduced into congress yesterday provides that persons caught drinking hard liquor shall go to a dungeon cell. Goodness! if we are incarcerated for eating blue points on the half shell we certainly don't want to be locked up with low persons charged with drinking cocktails. We insist upon separate prisons. Let there be oyster jails and booze jails. We refuse to be locked up with heathen hounds.

The name forbids it. Suppose Paul Revere's name had been K. Paul Revere? Longfellow could never have written that immortal ode because, think how it would have sounded:

Listen, my children, and you shall hear

No, C. Rascom Slemp, it wouldn't do. It would be simply impossible to write an ode about you, and for that reason alone we are pleased that you step out of a position which as an occasional writer of epic poems caused us continual uneasiness.

ELEVATE THE GUNS.

Stout City, Ia., Jan. 10.—I believe many of your fellow citizens will feel very grateful to you for your editorial in favor of navy gun elevation and against the world court. Prior to our widely advertised "achievements" at the arms conference, our navy ranked first, but it now appears that we are scheduled for second or possibly third place. It may be that we never again will fight England, and God forbid that it shall be necessary to fight any nation.

If England is also positive that she will never fight us, it is hard to understand why she objects to the elevation of our guns, for if we are to be her friend it would seem that a strong friend is preferable to a weak one.

During the days when our country enjoyed its healthiest prosperity we contemplated treating every one fair and alike, and keeping our powder dry, and it does not seem that any conditions have arisen to void this formula. If we are to remain free and independent states as contemplated in the Declaration of Independence, it would seem that an efficient navy would be a paramount requisite. If thirty millions are to be spent for prohibition enforcement which nearly half of the people do not favor, it would not seem that six millions for gun elevation should seriously affect national economy.

The election results of 1920 and 1924 might not be construed so much of a victory for Harding and Coolidge as a defeat for Cox and Davis on account of their league of nations platform. The election of 1924 could not be construed as an endorsement of the world court, for usually those who favor the world court also favored getting into Europe, and accordingly voted Democratic, while those who opposed foreign entanglements were forced to vote Republican. If a world court were actually wanted, Davis would have won. As a young republic we have prospered greatly by heeding the admonition of Washington against foreign entanglements, and it appears very doubtful if this prosperity could be improved or even equaled by becoming involved in the many complexities of the old world. A REPUBLICAN.

CAN YOU MARRY ON $4,000 A YEAR?

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—It is a fine state of affairs when the clergy of this country discourage the institution of marriage. Recently a New York minister was quoted as saying that marriage is a failure.

Then an Evanston pastor states that he would not advise any young couple to marry on less than $3,000 a year. There would be very few marriages if such were the case. There are a good many young couples that are getting along on less than that figure and are happily married. It is entirely up to the individuals as to whether they will live on less than $3,000 a year.

Fifty per cent of the ministers would be bachelors if they waited until they were earning that salary to get married.

Offenses Grown Under Dry

BY ARTHUR

The Volsteads prohibition would starve crime with such a heel that the judges find life one long holiday procession of figures in the other direction.

The report of the department of the Municipal public by Chief Clerk of James A. Kearns, shows an increase of 42 per cent in the total number of cases filed in 1924 as compared with 1923. Carried back to 1919, they show that the volume of misdemeanor cases filed in five years number of cases filed in 1924 the total number of cases filed in 1919 was 12 per cent.

Wrecking law. Of course, prohibition to do one way or the other considerable portion of such as a jump of 30 per cent of motor vehicle. But after trimming the demerit out of the statistics indicate that were increasing instead of decreasing.

Following is the list by five groups of offenses last five years when each item as infraction vehicle law, the sanction short weighing, etc.

Against sobriety and order.

Against the person.

Against public policy.

Against chastity and morals.

Against property.

One of the most significant trend of human behavior as registered by the index. Automobile included.

As an index to conduct show an astonishing increase last five years they have had 135 per cent in volume.

POLICE COURT RECORD UPSETS VOLSTEAD HOPES

Offenses Grow Apace
Under Dry Regime.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The Volstead hypothesis that prohibition would stamp out sin and crime with such a heavy, hobbled heel that the judges and police would find life one long holiday ran into a procession of figures yesterday headed in the other direction.

The report of the criminal department of the Municipal court, as made public by Chief Clerk James A. Kearns, shows an increase of 42 per cent in the total number of cases filed in 1924 as compared with 1923. Carried back to 1919, they show that the volume of misdeeds brought before this tribunal has increased 180 per cent in five years. In 1919 the number of cases filed was 114,000, and in 1924 the total ran up to 210,000. For the last five years the volume of cases has been growing at an average rate of 25 per cent a year. Population meantime has grown perhaps 15 per cent.

Wrongdoing Increases.
Of course, prohibition has nothing to do one way or the other with a considerable portion of this growth, such as a jump of 50,000 in the number of motor vehicle law violations. But after trimming this type of misdemeanor out of the picture, the figures indicate that wrongdoing is fast increasing instead of receding.

Following is the growth registered by five groups of offenses during the last five years—they do not include such items as infractions of the motor vehicle law, the sanitary ordinances, short weighing, etc.

Offenses.

Offense	1919	1924
Against sobriety and good order	38,501	91,502
Against the person	6,703	7,908
Against public policy	6,506	7,541
Against chastity and morals	1,368	7,165
Against property	15,932	13,947

One of the most significant gauges of the trend of human behavior is the tally of disorderly conduct cases. It includes cases of drunkenness, which are not separated in the bookkeeping, and it embraces other infractions of orderly conduct.

Increase in This Category.
This group of cases, perhaps, comes the closest to registering the status of general behavior as regards breaches of the peace. Automobile cases are not included.

As an index to conduct, these cases show an astonishing increase. In the last five years they have grown no less than 125 per cent in volume. In the last year alone they grew almost 20 per cent. Here are the figures by years:

Year	Disorderly Conduct Cases
1919	36,823
1920	41,300
1921	47,094
1922	51,300
1923	67,094
1924	76,419

In pre-Volstead days, the theory enunciated by the drys was that prohibition would bring about an immediate improvement of general conduct and sweeten the human race to the point where arrests would dwindle and the jails could be closed up for want of occupants. The figures indicate this has not as yet come to pass.

Millennium Still Ahead.
In the five years since prohibition, Chicago's population grew about 12 per cent, while disorderly cases brought in the Municipal court grew 125 per cent.

In the eyes of analysts this group of offenses is regarded one of the most indicative. It registers the fringe region of wrongdoing, that was, theoretically, to be the first to show improvement when the drought started to dry up man's tendencies to sin. Offenses against chastity and morals in the five years increased 420 per cent. But this is largely explained by police crusades of various sorts. The cases of those accused of keeping houses of ill fame and of soliciting, for example, increased from 1,750 in 1919 to 5,662 in 1924, largely because of increased police activities.

Offenses Against the Person.
Offenses against the person, which grew 18 per cent in the five years in the Municipal court, reflect the growth of crimes of violence. Assault to kill cases were 334 in 1919 and 440 in 1924. Assault with deadly weapon cases almost doubled in the five years. They stood 1,322 in 1919 and 2,587 in 1924.

Assault and battery cases grew from 1,651 in 1919 to 1,311 in 1924. Rape cases in five years increased 65 per cent. They numbered 216 in 1919 and 356 in 1924. Cases of carrying concealed weapons jumped from 677 in 1919 to 1,189 in 1924. Gambling cases were 6,028 in 1919 and 7,869 in 1924. Murder and manslaughter cases together increased from 176 in 1919 to 280 in 1924.

EXPERTS DISAGREE.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon league, and W. H. Stayton, head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, yesterday issued widely divergent statements on the effects of the prohibition laws after five years. Tomorrow marks the fifth anniversary of the dry era.

Mr. Wheeler said prohibition has been a tremendous success and that fines for violations pay the greater part of the cost of prohibition.

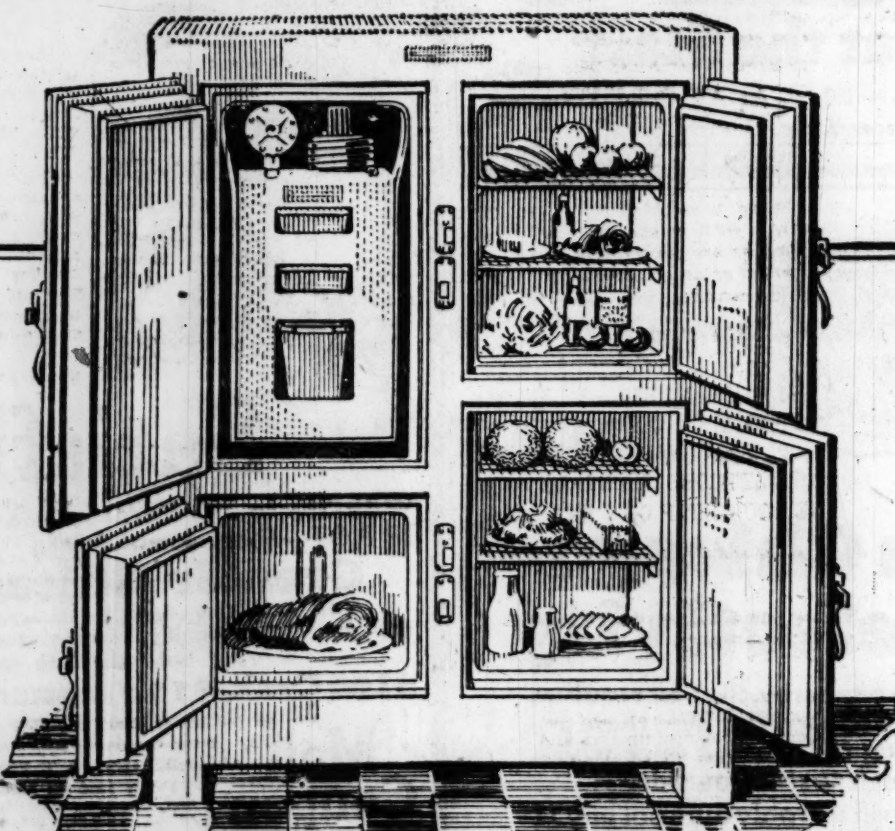

Mr. Stayton said the law had been a miserable failure and pointed out that while the government is paying $30,000,000 a year for enforcement, revenues have been cut $5,000,000,000 during the first five years.

EAT IT WITH HOT MILK

Of course you like a hot meal these cold Winter mornings, but you want something better than a porridge. Take two Shredded Wheat Biscuits, heat them in the oven to restore their crispness, pour hot milk over them, adding a little salt. Nothing so nourishing and satisfying—puts you on your feet for the day's work. Shredded Wheat is ready-cooked, ready-to-eat—saves a lot of kitchen worry and bother.

Chill Your Refrigerator With Electricity

Put Kelvinator electric refrigeration in your present refrigerator and you can forget refrigeration problems. Kelvinator never melts, requires no attention and never needs renewing. It will keep your refrigerator many degrees colder than ice does. More than that it will keep it free from moisture. This dry, intense cold not only keeps foods fresh for days but actually improves them.

With Kelvinator you still have ice for table use, as Kelvinator freezes crystal-clear cubes of it in the trays of the freezing unit. Ices, sherbets and other desserts can be frozen in these same trays.

It costs less to operate Kelvinator than to buy ice. Our local representative will gladly give you additional facts and prices.

Seventeen Styles Among These New Shoes at $10

FOR the afternoon costume these new Shoes are decidedly correct—distinctive but not ornate. The Shoe sketched at the right has two separate straps which overlap each other, making a new and attractive fastening. It comes in patent leather, black satin, or black suede, with the two-inch Spanish heel.

The gored colonial style makes tiny straps its most interesting feature, and, next, the band of suede that runs over the instep. In black satin or patent leather with two-inch Spanish heel or in the more tailored black calf with Cuban heel. There are fifteen other types.

MRS. J. H. TOWNE WINS $13,200 AS ALIMONY

Award Is Made Pending
Maintenance Suit.

Mrs. Jane Holmberg Towne, daughter of the late William Holmberg, architect, yesterday won temporary alimony of $1,100 per month after she appeared before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath in support of her separate maintenance suit against John Dean Caton Towne. The Townes are well known in the north shore social set.

In arriving at the figure, Judge Sabath concurred in the suggestion of Mrs. Towne's attorney, Weymouth Kirkland, Kirkland, Patterson & Fleming, who said half of the Townes' joint income should be awarded to Mrs. Towne.

"Towne lives a life of leisure and luxury," Mr. Kirkland said. "He never does a stroke of work from morning until night. He has accustomed his family to enjoy abundant funds, and it is but proper that the court should award Mrs. Towne at least half of her husband's income."

The allowance is granted pending the trial of Mrs. Towne's suit for separate maintenance.

Mr. Towne was not in court, having gone to Princeton university to aid his son, John Jr. The youth, according to Towne's attorney, committed some infraction of the university rules and faces expulsion.

WITNESSES TELL HOW KYLE'S CAR KILLED HUDSON

Women Laughed as Auto Staggered.

The picture of a speeding car careening drunkenly from curb to curb as it roared south at fifty miles an hour, of young women in party clothes screaming and laughing and kicking their heels in the air at 8 o'clock workmen, and of a driver slumped over his wheel, seemed to allow his car to seek its own course through the morning, was painted in Judge William J. Lindsay's court yesterday by six witnesses called by the state in the prosecution of Joseph F. Kyle, real estate man, on a charge of auto manslaughter.

In the opening statement for the state W. W. Smith, assistant state's attorney, who with Milton D. Smith, another assistant state's attorney, is prosecuting the case, asked that Kyle be found guilty for the death of Charles Hudson, a retired merchant of Harvey, who was instantly killed on the morning of July 31, 1923, when Kyle's car struck a small truck in which Mr. Hudson was driving to South Water street market with his grandson, Leslie Heller, a grocer of Harvey.

The penalty for manslaughter may be from one year to life in the state penitentiary.

William A. Leds, a milk wagon driver; Elba Barkley, a negro, 3144 South Wabash, in front of whose home the accident occurred; William Green, a janitor, who was passing 34th street on his way to work; John Bulko, a taxi driver, and George Andrews, a policeman, all told practically the same story.

They said the occupants of the car were screaming and yelling, and that the car, running at about fifty miles an hour, careened from side to side of the street.

They said that the small Dodge truck, from under which they later lifted the dead body of Hudson, had turned and hugged the curb at the approach of the crazy car, but was smashed and turned completely over by Kyle's machine, which turned from the center of the street and rammed the small truck.

SENATE DEBATES OWNERSHIP OF ISLE OF PINES

3 Words in Peace Treaty May Decide Matter.

By JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—A debate that is going to bring out the most accomplished dialecticians and skillful lawyers in the United States senate was launched at precisely 2 o'clock this afternoon. It bids fair to run many hours.

It concerns a garden spot among the fairest and most fruitful on the face of the earth and half the size of the state of Rhode Island. That spot is the Isle of Pines, situated about forty miles south of the western end of Cuba and inhabited by 700 American planters and fruit growers who, although they constitute less than one-sixth of the island's total population, either own or lease the owners of holdings of a value of nearly $2,000,000.

But the Isle of Pines is administered by the republic of Cuba, and ever since the republic of Cuba that government has claimed it as part of its territory.

United States Claim to Island.
But has the United States a right to it?

The question has been in the air and has been a source of vexation for a quarter of a century. In point of fact, the United States has a right to it, but it is a right that is not recognized by the republic of Cuba.

For and Against Ratification.
Some senators in favor of the ratification of a treaty which would confirm Cuba's possession of the Isle of Pines desire confirmation on broad, deep moral grounds. Shall we, they ask, take Naboth's vineyard merely to satisfy the appetite of a few planters?

Others, however, are in favor of the ratification of a treaty which would confirm Cuba's possession of the Isle of Pines. They argue that the United States has a right to it, and that it is a right that is not recognized by the republic of Cuba.

IF Madam is considering, for the moment, the charm of southern skies, where the blue waters of the Mediterranean caress an old and mellowed town in southern France—or it may be where wavy palm trees line a sandy shore in Florida—she will want new dresses, new hats, new parasols and many other things for the mid-winter trip. To help defray the expense of so many new things, madam will, of course, sell a portion of the old frocks through Tribune Want Ads.

JOHN JAMISON, it is true, owned a dinner coat, but it was a 1921 model and somewhat obsolete. Mary, his wife, was much distressed about the matter, and did so wish that John could afford to buy one of those snappy new Tuxes with broad shoulders and wide lapels, suggestive of little old Piccadilly, as the well-dressed articles say. John sold the old suit, added a few dollars and then bought a new one. Simple, what?

ANTHROPOLOGICALLY speaking, the dog is man's oldest companion. But since the days of long treks through the woods are gone, since the hunting knife and rifle are in the discard and man has settled down to life in cities, the dog has lost his usefulness and is now merely a pet. If you must lose Rover, lose him with a Want Ad. The Tribune will find him a good home.

AND the Williamsons wanted a different kind of house in another part of the city—a little more, well, expensive, if you know what I mean—to celebrate in a small way Mr. W.'s good fortune in the stock market. Thinking that the old house would not be easy to sell, they skeptically inserted a Want Ad in The Tribune. The house was sold in two days. But their case was not at all exceptional.

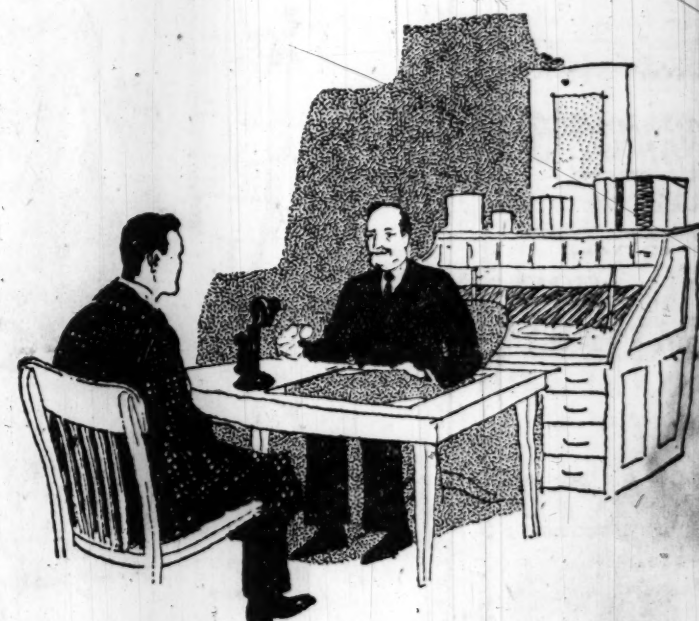

Let us leave no wholesome want unfilled! Just as the growing plants struggle upward and toward the light, so it is that men work and strive and struggle for the material things that are necessary to their existence. Remember this: it is through the process of want and its fulfillment that men continue to grow and develop and in time achieve that place in the scheme of things that Destiny has reserved for them! This is the law of Life, so do not curb and thwart your wholesome wants and good desires, but give them fulfillment!

There is no urge in all this tangled being of ours like the urge to life. And it is always expressed in terms of material things. The young man wants a better job—what is behind that want is the urge to have a home, to marry and to raise children. The man who is married wants a car—the urge behind that want is that he may give his family a broader, more healthful life. The elderly business or professional man wants safe and fruitful real estate properties in order that his family shall continue to enjoy economic security after he is gone.

As long as to live is synonymous with to want, The Tribune's Want Ad Section will always be a quick, a helpful and an economic source of human happiness.

YOU can get cash for antiques and old pieces of furniture you no longer need, and save the expense and trouble of moving or storing them. Remember your efforts to sell anything must be directed toward some group of prospects, and no group of prospects have a higher per capita buying power than the audience you reach through Tribune Want Ads.

SHREWD business men know that men are a corporation's greatest asset. More than money, machinery, good-will or properties, a company's greatest wealth lies in its intelligent, energetic executives and workers. "Build not your house upon sand," said some ancient sage. And business men would do well to remember—build not your house with human sand. If you are out for workers, get the best—they are the cheapest in the long run. It has been a truism in Chicago for twenty years that the best workers are secured through Tribune Want Ads.

AND the Robert Grants wanted to sublet their apartment for three months, and they were puzzled as to just how to do it. Inquiries of this sort do not come to real estate offices very frequently, so they used a Want Ad (Tribune, of course). And need we add they found a renter?

CHIMNEY FUMES CAUSED HANGING IN OLD LONDON

Clean Air Idea Not "New Fad," Hewitt Shows.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
Three critics phoned early yesterday to challenge the reliability of the statement that the dense curtain hanging over Chicago Wednesday morning was not a fog at all, but a thick cloud of smoke.

Two claimed experience with fogs, each knew a fog when he saw it, and Wednesday, he said, it was a real fog. One said that The Tribune story was "just a plain damn lie," that "that much smoke couldn't be gotten in the air at one time." The other said that Prof. Cox of the weather bureau "was mistaken in his diagnosis," and that The Tribune was "just starting a new fad." The third man was certain it was impossible for the stockyards stretch to reach the loop Wednesday morning.

Tons of Coal Get Into Air.

First a reply to the claim that "that much smoke could not be gotten in the air at one time." A recent reliable text book has been issued by the chemist, William E. Gibbs, entitled, "Clouds and Smokes," published in 1924. He says, page 151: "Many million tons of fine coal ash and soot are discharged into the atmosphere in the form of smoke each year by domestic and industrial chimneys, particularly in the neighborhood of large cities and industrial areas."

"It is estimated," he adds, page 155, "that between the hours of 6 and 9 every morning during winter months 200 tons of coal smoke are poured into the air over London."

The book later describes the weather conditions which Prof. Cox shows prevailed in Chicago last Wednesday morning. The book continues: "It is estimated that the output of smoke from chimneys in London between 6 a. m. and 9 a. m., if accumulated in this way to form a layer 400 feet high, is sufficient of itself to form a dense smoke fog."

Others Support Theory.

SMOKING UP THE CITY

Picture taken at the James R. Doolittle school at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon demonstrates a violation of the anti-smoke ordinance. The school is located at 528 East 35th street.

charge. It is neither fad nor is it new. The Chicago health department's official bulletin of Sept. 22, 1923, says that "even as far back as the year 1580 Queen Elizabeth issued an edict prohibiting the burning of certain fuels in London because the health of her knights might suffer by having to breathe smoke and fumes." That bulletin also says "it is recorded that a man was hanged for burning coal that smoked inordinately."

The $250,000 report of the Chicago Association of Commerce on smoke of 1915 says that "in the reign of Edward II, 1307-1327, a man is said to have been put to torture in London because he filled the air with 'a pestilential odor' through the use of coal."

Early Smoke Consumers.

In 1686 a Mr. Justel read before a philosophical society "an account of an engine that consumes smoke," and in 1716 a Dr. Desaguliers published a book on "a new method of building chimneys so as to prevent their smoking."

Two centuries afterward the British government investigated the damage done to London by smoke and soot. It was estimated in 1899 that the damage was $26,000,000 a year. Cleveland, in 1911, in a smoke report, put its annual damage at $5,502,000.

In that same year Chicago's smoke commission estimated this city's damage at $17,600,000. Two years later an investigation and report in Pittsburgh estimated that city's damage between $6,200,000 and $10,600,000. Chicago placed its damage in 1914 at $19,735,288 and last year it was around $42,500,000.

DENBY CLEARED, FALL CENSURED IN 1 OIL REPORT

Senate Gets Republican Minority Document.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—While defending Edwin Denby, as secretary of the navy, a Republican minority of the senate oil committee, in a report filed today, vigorously condemned Albert B. Fall, as secretary of the interior, for accepting a loan of $100,000 and other favors from Edward L. Denby, California oil magnate, to whom a California naval oil reserve was leased.

The report, signed by Senators Smoot (Utah), Stanford (Ore.), Bursam (N. M.), Cameron (Ariz.), and Spencer (Mo.), was submitted by the last named senator so it might be before the senate prior to the calling up for adoption next week of the majority report, submitted at the last session by Senator Walsh (Dem., Mont.), prosecutor in the oil inquiry.

No Defense for $100,000 Loan.

"The minority concurs," the report said, "in the full measure of criticism which the majority indulges upon the conduct of a cabinet officer who is shown to have accepted a loan of $100,000 and certain other favors while in office. Such acts cannot be tolerated or condoned."

"We agree as well," it added, "with the majority opinion that the only possible criticism that could be placed upon the conduct of the secretary of the navy, Edwin Denby, or of any assistant secretary, relates entirely to the interpretation of statutes glaringly ambiguous and to the inauguration of administrative policies where no express statute exists.

"The disputed interpretation of statutes is properly before the courts for judicial determination and nothing in the record in the least affects the integrity and patriotic devotion to duty and high character of Secretary Denby."

Leases Possibly Defensible.

Discussing the famous executive order transferring control of the reserves from the navy to the interior department, which preceded the leasing of Teapot Dome to Sinclair and the California reserve to Doheny, the minority declared:

"The minority are firm in the belief that the executive order saved millions to the government and has resulted in conserving in the ground far more oil than would have remained but for the leases."

3 ROUTES FOR SHOALS BILL IN THE HOUSE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—(Special.)—Ultimate action on Muscle Shoals legislation was decidedly in doubt today.

The Underwood bill as passed by the senate is entirely different from the Henry Ford bill passed by the house last session and for which the senate bill is a substitute. The house has three alternatives. It can send the bill direct to conference. It can refer the bill to the committee on military affairs. It can concur in senate amendments to the house bill.

Representative McKensie (Rep., Ill.), chairman of the house committee on military affairs which handled the legislation in the house, favors sending the bill to conference.

Opponents of the Underwood bill are expected to make an effort to block the sending of the bill to conference without first referring it to the military committee for consideration.

These are the odds you fight in the battle against Pyorrhea. Four out of every five over 25 years of age are victims. You are one of the thousands younger, too, who are victims of this insidious disease. Will you be a victim?

Protect your gums and save your teeth

Just as a ship needs the closest attention under the water-line, so do your teeth under the gum-line. If the gums shrink, serious dangers result.

The teeth are loosened. They are exposed to tooth-base decay. The gums themselves become tender and bleed easily. They form sacs which become the doorways of organic disease for the whole system. They often disfigure the mouth as they recede.

CHLORINE

Now at Drug Stores

The world's leading medical authorities recognize chlorine as the most effective agent ever known for treating colds and other surface respiratory diseases. Its discovery for this purpose was a triumph of Science. Until recently, however, this treatment was obtainable only at hospitals and with special equipment. But Science has scored another achievement in making chlorine treatment easily available to anybody. It has created a chlorine ointment, known as Chlorine Respirene, which when applied to the nostrils liberates pure chlorine gas which the act of breathing carries directly to the inflamed, diseased membranes. No more efficient method could possibly be invented. You can now treat yourself anywhere at any time and have the most effective protection against these common and serious diseases at the cost of only about a cent per treatment.

Knocks a Cold in 3 Hours

Chlorine Respirene, which any druggist can supply, gives you the same pure chlorine gas as recommended by Health Departments and U. S. authorities. You feel the effect at once and you end a cold in three hours. Have this remarkable scientific discovery ready for use in colds, bronchitis, laryngitis, whooping cough and other surface respiratory diseases. Use it also as a preventative of these diseases. Tube containing 50 treatments costs only 50 cents. Ask your druggist for it today.

DR. VAN E. FREEMAN, 426 E. 90TH PLACE, WHO HAS PRACTICED IN THAT NEIGHBORHOOD FOR NEARLY A QUARTER CENTURY.

Dec. 20, 1924.

Mr. C. A. Coor, Dynell Spring Water Co., R. F. D. No. 1, Palos Park, Ill.

Dear Mr. Coor:

I have recently had occasion to observe the beneficial effects of Dynell Water to such a degree that to recommend it and assist to make the public better acquainted with it seems to me both a professional duty and a personal pleasure. To begin with it unquestionably was instrumental in breaking up a case of gall stones under my observation; this in confirmation of other cases of a similar nature.

Water, as we know, is the universal solvent but Dynell Water assuredly has a greater value to the body economy. I fully believe it comes closer to supplying the water need of protoplasm than anything we could make in the laboratory. Certainly more so than any other natural mineral water that has ever come to my notice. I believe this explains to a very large extent the symptomatic benefits that have followed its use in gastric disorders, high blood pressure, certain forms of anemia and diabetes, catarrh of the stomach, and many other conditions.

In Dynell Water nature has certainly built up a most elaborate composition of the mineral elements required by the human body to renew the energies in our tissue cells and a closer study of its action would probably reveal a degree of absorption that well nigh approaches the ideal. Keep the road open to Dynell Spring. In a medical sense it may well be termed the Fountain of Youth. May its waters never cease flowing.

Yours truly, VAN E. FREEMAN, M. D.

It will cleanse your system, purify your blood and help you to ward off sickness and disease which usually come with inclement weather. The human system requires just as much water in cold as in warm weather.

We want you to know that Dynell is odorless, colorless and tasteless, and yet it is the most wonderful mineral water yet discovered. It contains health-giving properties that cannot be obtained in any other way. These properties are as essential to well-being as sunlight and air. And it is for the lack of them that a host of men and women past middle life are on the verge of invalidism or already there. This wonder water can help but bring them back to health and strength, a perfect rejuvenation. If you are a sufferer from rheumatism, constipation, high blood pressure, gall stones, gastritis, torpid liver, anemia, and systemic conditions for which a thorough cleansing of the blood and consequent relief to the kidneys is called for, don't fail to either visit the spring or send for a Five Gallon Test container. The regular price of the five gallons is now down to only $3.00, delivered free to any point in Cook County, slight express charge to outside points, and is the lowest price ever made for any mineral water, even those of far less merit. The price at the spring is $2.50.

VALLEY MOURNS HOMES ORDERED SOLD FOR MARKET

What Place Will Suit Us?
Old Timers Ask.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

That splendid isolation which they've enjoyed down in the Valley ever since the days when whisky was so cheap, sawdust McGann poured it regularly into his horse's water trough is gone.

It was shattered to smithereens yesterday when a host of greenbacks, many shaky signatures, and some official wax seals transferred the homesites of half a century and more into the legal location of Chicago's new $17,000,000 produce market.

The most constructive development in the history of marketing, the experts say of the project which will concentrate the former South Water street industry into the most scientifically planned produce market in the world.

Unwelcome to Others.

"Sure, an' a terrible thing it is," is the way the folks over in the Valley explained it yesterday as they grouped themselves on corners and down the alleys and spoke of that mandatory moving day which has been set for Feb. 1.

For the Valley, that six square blocks so famous and so feared, bounded by Racine avenue and Morgan street and lying between 14th street and 15th place, doesn't want to move. Some of the younger sons, the gunmen and gangsters who have helped to make the district so important, are always on the go.

There's Michael (Farmer) McDermott, retired fireman, who lives at 1020 15th street. His house is 71 years old, but it's his house, and he'd rather have it than the $8,000 or $10,000 he's had to accept for it.

"The neighbors here are the best ever," Farmer McDermott explains. "Whenever a body's sick they come and care for him. When he dies they all help bury him. It's a grand place."

"What am I going to do? What can

I do? Our people have owned our own place for going on seventy years. But we can't buy a place big enough for that horsehoe now, the way the rents are."

And he pointed to a large gilded horsehoe over the door. For McDermott, in addition to having rolled up a good record as a fireman, is the champion horsehoe tosser in the district, so the neighbors say.

Near by live the Casays. There are two families of Casays. Just a long, dangerous flight of rickety steps and a small, squat cottage is all that makes the difference, apparently, in the genealogy of the two families.

Across the alley from McDermott is Mrs. Mary Sweet's home, a three story affair.

"Sure, and I've lived here goin' on forty year," says Mrs. Sweet, "and I've cried every night since they told me I had to move. Money, what do the likes of me want with money, when it's a home I'm after?"

And Mrs. Sweet tried valiantly not to think of Feb. 1.

Bargains in Those Days.

"Yes, and do you remember," Mr. McDermott asks, "the day Larry McGann came home and sez, 'Ma, I can get a half dead horse, but a good worker, for $2.50, and Missus McGann sez, 'Here's $5, buy a team.'"

"And Larry did, and they set up sellin' sawdust. Do you remember?"

Mrs. Sweet does remember. So do all the Valley folks. What they don't want to do is to anticipate beyond the first of next month.

PRISON FOR DRY LAW VIOLATORS UP TO CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—A bill to make prison sentences mandatory upon conviction for violation of the prohibition laws was reported today by the house judiciary committee.

The measure was introduced by Representative Stalker (Rep., N. Y.). The vote approving it was 14 to 3. Those voting in the negative were Chairman Graham of the committee, and Representative Dominick (Dem., S. C.), and Weller (Dem., N. Y.).

The measure would amend the prohibition laws to read:

"Fine and imprisonment." Instead of "fine or imprisonment." In case of conviction.

Sudden Wealth All Too Often Wrecks a Happy Marriage

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Money! I wish we didn't have it," one husband said to his wife. "We have been married ten years, and all our troubles have started since my husband made a lot of money in his business after the war."

"Sometimes I'd give anything to go back to the days when we were first married, wondering how we'd harness up one dollar to make it go as far as ten, and worrying for an hour before we started out for an evening just how much we ought to spend."

"For the last two years we have been going about constantly with the 'livest bunch' in town, the crowd we never formerly dreamed of going with. I was awfully pleased at first. My husband used to say, 'Better go slow.' I was more anxious than he to keep up, to do what they were doing, to step as lively as the liveliest, so no one could possibly think we were slow."

"Lately, though, everything is wrong. My husband never used to drink. Now he seems never to be satisfied unless he is drinking, and doesn't see any harm in taking too much, either. He never used to pay any serious attention to other women. Now he notices all of them, and in the last year has been far too interested in a certain young woman in our crowd. I haven't said much. Once I did think it up to him that he never used to have the flattery and attention of any woman to make him happy, and he retorted by saying that he never had the money to buy it before."

"Sometimes I'm tempted to announce I'm through with all the crowd, with trying to go the pace, to keep up with their standards, or adjust myself to their lack of standards. But I'm afraid to now. I'm not sure of him any more. I haven't any influence at all, it seems. I wish he'd lose his money—I do—and then maybe I could get him back and our old happiness and fun in life."

Wishing that now is futile. It is probably too late, and he would not be the same, anyway. He has tasted the power of money and likes it, and without it now there couldn't be the same old happiness. You can be happy without a thing, if you have never had it. Once you have had it, though, and lost it, there's an emptiness which only getting it again can satisfy, in the majority of cases.

The only thing to do is to sit tight and wait for things to change slowly. Men change. One year they are this way, another year they have other interests. A woman who has plunged too quickly into a life she does not like can't get out as quickly. She has to emerge more gradually if the change is not to be too noticeable.

She can use her wit towards making a gradual change in her friendships, in the people she entertains and the invitations she accepts. She can try to put others in her home. Her husband may enjoy the change more than he thinks he is going to.

Young couples starting out in life with all the enthusiasm of fresh love and desire, with all the possibilities of enjoying themselves, can do well to remember this, get all that is to be

HAROLD TEEN—HARD AS NAILS

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Changed His Mind.

"Dear Miss Blake: There is a young man in my neighborhood with whom I am deeply in love. I have gone out with him about two months. Almost every occasion he told me he loved me. At the beginning he seemed to mean what he said, but lately it appears that his attitude has changed. He does not ask me to go out with him any more, but sees me often during the day, as I stay home. A friend of mine, and also his, told me that he does not care for me as much as before. I would appreciate your advice, as I care a great deal for him. HEARTBROKEN."

Don't be heartbroken, for such things happen to every girl, dear. We cannot help it if the boys change their minds, but must accept it. The next time a boy tells you he loves you, put no faith in it unless his actions prove it, and it usually takes longer than two months for real love to develop, dear.

Yes, Invite Him.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been angry at a fellow for about six months and would like to renew his acquaintance. I expect to have a party soon. Would it be proper to invite him?"

Yes, Brown Eyes, it would be quite the nice thing to do to invite him to your party, as it will show him that you haven't forgotten him and would like to be friendly with him again. And, after all, dear, it is so much nicer to harbor a kindly feeling for every one, don't you think?

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALLICO.

Not on Friendly Terms.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Wait a minute. Don't take a look at today's drawing, and before reading the words of wisdom attached to it rush out and buy a pair of giddy socks and a pair of spats and wear them with the calm assurance that you will be numbered among this season's Beau Brummels. Because, if you do, you will make a horrible mistake.

For what you see before you in the illustration is one of the things that you ought not to do if you want to be on the well dressed list. For, although fancy woolen hose are all that one can desire for informal wear with spats, they are not on friendly terms with spats. With spats one should wear something in a plain color. It's quite all right to wear woolen hose with spats, although it is not necessary, since spats keep the ankles warm, and if the ankles are warm the feet

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Broiled Salmon.

There are a good many ifs and ands to broiling. For instance, one of the greatest of cooks recommends that a three-quarter pound slice of salmon be broiled but six minutes to a side, which time would be entirely inadequate in some sorts of broiling ovens. There is as much skill in getting a gas broiling oven just right as there is in getting a gas baking oven just right for the work to be done.

The recommendation in question referred to broiling over a deep bed of coals which will send out a wonderful and penetrating heat. The only way to get a gas broiling oven to have an atmosphere anywhere near corresponding to such a fiery furnace heat is to heat it slowly and thoroughly.

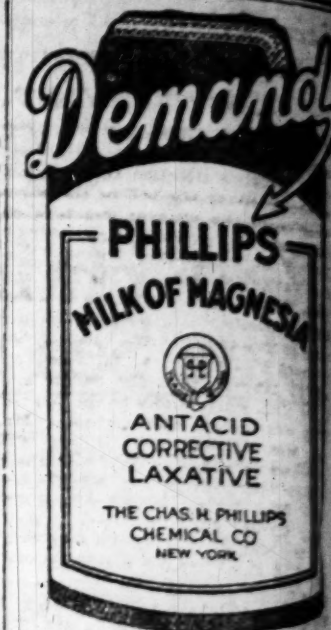

Just as in heating the baking oven, the door should at first be left open to burn out the dead air, then closed and heated slowly. This heating of oven doors open when gas is first lighted, and also open when the gas is first turned off, is a point too often neglected, and the ovens so become poorer and poorer.

Broiled salmon is superior if it is marinated an hour before the cooking. Put into a deep plate salt enough to season the salmon, some pepper and paprika, a tablespoon of oil, and about the same of vinegar, and lemon juice, and a little mustard. Turn the salmon into a ring. Turn the salmon in this and leave for an hour, turning several times, then broil.

The general rule about broiling fish is to use a double broiler, since fish should be handled as little as possible.

terms, such as a decided check, or stripe, or figure.

Spatas, by the way, should not be confused with only the formal wear side of dress. They are entirely in keeping with informal wear. They are as correct with a brogue as with a patent leather oxford. But with the more formal shoe a darker spate than a pearl gray is advised. The lighter spats are more in harmony with striped trousers.

Arthur Meeker Jr. has departed for the west to spend a month or so with his sister, Mrs. Grace Meeker Cramer, at Monticello, Santa Barbara.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis T. A. Junkin, who have been residing at the Drake for the early winter, will depart on Sunday for a winter tour.

The fashionable Blackstone radiates tonight about the Junior league's annual entertainment at the Hotel Astor. Spain was the theme of the various phases of a long and varied program, including a tango contest.

The marriage of John Drexel Jr. to Miss Jane Barbour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. T. Barbour of Louisville, Ky., will take place on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stern, on Lexington avenue.

Mrs. Vincent Astor, Miss Florence Low, and Mrs. Henry Potter Russell were guests of Mrs. Joshua Coudert at the Club Mirador.

Miss Muriel Vanderbilt departed this week with her father, W. K. Vanderbilt, and a party of friends for a cruise of the West Indies on Mr. Vanderbilt's yacht, the Arcturion.

An important engagement of interest in this city is that of Miss Alice Erdman, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Erdman of Princeton, to Francis Grover Cleveland, youngest son of Grover Cleveland, former president of the United States.

Waning of Opera Season Brings Out Increased Crowds

Nearing the close of the opera season many of those who have been most constant in attendance seem to be crowding in as many performances as possible. Among those in the boxes for last night's production of "Werther" were a large number of those patrons.

Count and Countess Bolognesi, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Hunt, Miss Marie Rozel, and Bernard Anderson were occupying one of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick's boxes. Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Blossom Jr. had with them Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Warren, Mrs. Phelps B. Hoyt and Mrs. G. W. Blossom Sr.

Mrs. T. R. Lyons was hostess to Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress and Mr. and Mrs. James Penrose. With them Mrs. Howard Spaulding were Mr. and Mrs. John Cochran and Mr. and Mrs. David Adler. Mrs. Walter S. Brewster was entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Morris Johnston, Ernest Poole and J. W. Linn.

Chauncey McCormick's party included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cable, Mrs. William McCormick Blair, and Walter Frazer. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thorne had in their box Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Potter Jr. of New York and Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart. Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Strobel brought Miss Elizabeth McCormick and Arthur Aldis.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Smith had invited Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bissell and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Polansky.

Mrs. Charles H. Morse Jr. had in her box Mr. and Mrs. William Covington, Miss Katherine Carroll, Paul Bonon, and Carl Stibolt. Miss Josephine Irwin, Miss Freda Foltz, Alexander Clark, Pierre Blouke, and Sherwood Chickster were in another of Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick's boxes.

Portraits of Society

A loan portrait exhibition, arranged by Mrs. Walter S. Brewster to benefit the Chicago Public School Art Society, is open on Friday, Jan. 24, at the Chase-Johnson gallery, will include the portraits of many prominent Chicago folk.

Among these will be the painting of Mrs. Henry Stimson lent by his mother, Mrs. Hugh J. McIlhenny, that of Graham Aldis, lent by Arthur F. Aldis; Miss Genevieve Carpenter; Miss Katherine Dudley, lent by Dr. Emil C. Dudley; Mrs. Charles B. Ioddsport, lent by herself, as well as portraits of Mrs. Brewster, Miss Ellen Jones, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. Porter Palmer, and Mrs. H. H. Porter. A committee, including Robert Allerton, Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, Mrs. Edward L. Hasler, Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mrs. John H. Winterbottom, Miss Alice Rouiller, Mrs. Parmelee Madden, and George F. Porter and Martin A. Ryerson has added Mrs. Brewster to the collection of the pictures, and Mrs. John Alden Carpenter and Arthur Heun are hanging the exhibit.

The town to which we had just moved was new to me and I didn't know any of the neighboring ones. One day a man, a stranger, asked which road to take toward Marion. I said I didn't know.

"What town is this?" he asked. Not hearing and not wishing to ask him to repeat his question, but supposing he had asked the way to another town, I said I didn't know. I've only been here a few weeks.

Imagine my embarrassment when he had gone and I realized what he had asked. I will never forget the look he gave me.

Miss Kathleen Marie Muldoon.

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Marie Muldoon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Muldoon of 1237 Carmen avenue, to Thomas Harold Gould, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Gould of 2130 Wilson avenue, will take place on Jan. 21. Nuptial mass will be celebrated at St. Ita's church at 9:30 o'clock in the morning and will be followed by a wedding breakfast at the residence of the bride's parents.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—[Special.]—The President and Mrs. Coolidge gave a dinner tonight for the diplomatic corps, their guests including the ambassadors, ministers and charges d'affaires of forty-six countries from the French ambassador and Mme. Jusserand to the chargé d'affaires of Haiti and Mme. Larouque. It was the last diplomatic dinner at the White House for the ambassadors of France and Italy, both of whom are soon to leave Washington, and the first appearance of a representative of the Irish Free State in the person of the newly appointed minister, Timothy Smiddy. The only guests in addition to the diplomats were the Secretary of State and Mrs. Hughes, the chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations and Mrs. Borah, and the chairman of the house committee on foreign affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Richardson departed this afternoon for Danville, Ill., to pass several days with the latter's former speaker, the Hon. Charles C. Cannon.

Summer Camp Benefit.

The woman's auxiliary of the Jewish People's Institute is sponsoring a benefit concert by John Charles Thomas at the Drake on Sunday evening. Mrs. Lee J. ## Dealing Embroidered Hearts to a Satin Gown

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The heroine today's gown has taken serious notice of the mark about "wearing your heart on your sleeve." Nor is she content with holding that one major suit on the white georgette frills attached to her tight sleeves. You will find embroidered there in colored beads corresponding with the reds and blacks of the pastebord pack, not only hearts, but clubs, spades, and diamonds.

An equally good deal has been given to the cascading jabot attached to the side front of the model. Only the fold of white georgette about the neck line has been deprived of its allotment. As to the frock itself, this is of midnight blue satin in the simplest of modes and belted at the natural waist line with a narrow girde of special material tied at the side back.

Needless to say, this frock has a special destiny. It is intended for the afternoon bridge. Needless to say, also, its group of eligible wearers is limited to the young and slender. For those who can qualify, here is a suggestion which will win the rubber of originality.

The length of this little gown is extreme in its lack of inches. It follows the French mode in this respect, but, let it be added in the same breath, we do not all follow the French mode. The established length of skirts over here is, in fact, about twelve inches above the ground.

Phyllis joined me on New Year's morning on my walk to the postoffice. "I have made a good resolution," said she.

"What is it?" I asked.

"What I know, Mollie and I are always fighting and I am going down there now and I'm going to tell her that I won't fight any more this year if she won't."

John was curled up beside his mother in the rocker, one evening. Herbert, still wide awake, was performing gay antics on the davenport. "Mamma, make bruvver stop," John murmured drowsily. "He makes me laugh, and I see too tired to laugh."

WHEAT ERRATIC; ALL DELIVERIES OF CORN HIGHER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Wheat market fluctuated in an erratic manner, profit taking developing on a bulge to $1.87 1/2 for May, with a drop to $1.83 1/2 later, and the close was at $1.84 1/2, with a net loss of 1/4 c. New crop futures were strong, with July selling at $1.59 1/2, a new high on the crop, and the finish was 1/4 c. higher at $1.58 1/2, while September was 1/4 c. higher at $1.47 1/2.

Corn continued to show independent strength, and closed unchanged to 1/4 c. higher, with May at $1.32 1/2, July, $1.32 1/2, and September $1.32 1/2. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 c. higher, and rye unchanged to 1/4 c. lower.

Foreign Markets Stronger. Unexpected strength in Liverpool with an advance of 1/4 d on lack of pressure from the southern hemisphere, with heavy rains causing some damage in Australia, and the continued dock strike in the latter country were largely responsible for the bulge here to the high point.

General short covering was on order, with $1.87 heavy selling orders appeared and the pressure continued on the market the remainder of the day, scattered local buying going out freely on the break.

All deliveries of corn sold at a new high on the crop, May touching $1.54 1/2 on the bulge. The market showed independent strength throughout the day, the late break in wheat causing the final reaction. Houses with country connections on the buying side early and absorbed the surplus in the pit, and a leading local professional and several strong commission houses bought freely.

Speculative influences were largely responsible for the upturn in corn, as the cash demand remains slow, and despite an advance in bids to arrive for 60 day shipment of 10 c. discounts on cash grain are still unusually large. January delivery around $1.54 1/2 under May. Oats were dull and unsettled. There were 50,000 bu. Canadian sold at the seaboard for export.

Omaha reported the southwest buying cash grain there.

Little was heard regarding export demand for rye, and with a light trade it took but little profit taking to cause a lower range in the May delivery.

Provisions Market Unsettled. Provisions were weaker and lower on early scattered commission house liquidation, but rallied later with grains only to close easy with lard unchanged to 1/4 c. lower, with ribs 2 1/2 c. lower, and beef 2 1/4 c. lower. Cash demand general. Semi-monthly stock of lard increased 17,000,000 lbs. and is around 35,000,000 lbs. of all kinds, against 9,500,000 lbs. last year. Deliveries on January contracts were 25,000 lbs. lard.

CASH GRAIN NEW S

Practically all of the 500,000 bu. wheat at the seaboard for export was durum to Italy. France needs a little hard winter during the day. Barley sales were 200,000 bu. with Germany credited with being the buyer. Around 50,000 bu. Canadian rye were sold.

Chicago handlers sold 33,000 bu. wheat, 40,000 bu. corn, 30,000 bu. oats, and 20,000 bu. barley to the domestic trade, with 200,000 bu. oats sold to go to store.

No. 2 red winter at Kansas City sold up to $2.04, a new high on the crop, but that was the only market to break into new ground during the day. Market there was quoted as unchanged to 1/4 c. higher. St. Louis was unchanged to 1/4 c. higher and Omaha 1/4 c. higher. At Minneapolis shipping sales were 11,000 bu. but the basis was somewhat unsettled. Local premiums were unchanged, with 15,000 bu. over May for No. 2 red and 1 c. over to 25 under for No. 2 hard. Receipts were 23 cars.

No. 2 grades of cash corn on spot were slightly easier as compared to No. 2 at 18 1/2 c. under the future. No. 3 grades were 74 1/2 c. under No. 2, and No. 4 grades 14 1/2 c. under. Receipts were 21 cars. Oats markets were generally 1/4 c. higher.

No. 2 white and 3/4 c. under for No. 3 white. Discounts of 1/4 c. for No. 2 and 1/2 c. for No. 3. Range of cash grain prices in leading markets follows:

BY ARTHUR SEARS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 15.—President Coolidge's cabinet today in connection with the house judiciary committee in recommending a bill introduced by Rep. Stalker (Rep. N. Y.), which would give a judge of the district court a fine or imprisonment for a violation of the prohibition act.

When inquiry was made of the White House as to the president's attitude on the Stalker bill, Coolidge's official spokesman said that he was against it. Mr. Coolidge said it was a serious offense, particularly if it is a first offense.

Considering bootlegging as a serious offense, he said, it is too drastic, in his opinion, to provide for the imprisonment of bootleggers as the sole punishment for the offense of selling liquor. But he thinks it is fairly far to provide for the sole punishment of bootleggers of the status of the Stalker bill.

Mr. Coolidge indicated that he would veto the bill if it should ever reach the White House. The opposition, however, as authorities closed today, undoubtedly to halt the progress of the bill through the house.

Thought Time Was
The Stalker bill represents a new wrinkle in prohibition conceived by the prohibitionists. They deemed the time for tightening up the law for enforcing the eighteenth amendment having been particularly the widespread leniency meting out punishment, disposition of judges to let instead of imprisonment the nerves of the Anti-Saloon league and the temperance department of the Methodist church.

Denounced Dry Law
Only the other day E. H. Gary, Jr., had gone to the committee of one thousand enforcement, one better disobedience to the Volstead act.

Ever since the White House at which the President's committee assured how dry they are, they have been landing Mr. the skies and congress other that at least in the presidency who in going the limit in the prohibition law.

Woods May Replace
Rumors are rife that a shakeup in the prohibition pending, one that may be the Commissioner of the office. It is reported that the president has selected Arthur Wood as successor to Maj. J. M. Mullin, who has been most from the beginning.

President Coolidge today, however, that he tend to consider a reorganization of the prohibition unit position of the bill to prohibition office a separate treasury department, and to transfer prohibition bodily to the department. Numerous prohibition bills have been introduced in the past, but none of them has provided for the of alien violating the law. Another provides that placed within the purview of the law, but it is not clear whether it is intended to be a private act or a public act. The amendment aimed by the drys at and serving of "pre-Volstead" liquor.

GRANTED CHANGE OF VENUE. Trial of Warren J. Lincoln, shown with his son, begins before Judge William H. Fulton at Geneva, Ill. Charge is murder.
